A key witness in the Hiss-Chambers controversy on Capitol Hill yesterday plunged five stories to his death down a circular stairwell in the Justice Department Building.

He was W. Marvin Smith, Justice Department employee for the past 31 years. Smith, 53, an attorney in the office of Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, lived at 4806 Chevy Chase Blvd., Chevy Chase, Md. A nurse who reached his side within minutes after the fall said he was probably killed instantly.

Smith told a subcommittee of the House Un-American Activities Committee August 24 that he notarized the document transferring the title of a 1929 Ford automobile from Alger Hiss to the Cherner Motor Co., which transferred it to a William Rosen.

He testified that he and Hiss worked in the same office at the Justice Department in 1936 when the notarizing incident occurred, and that they were acquainted. The auto transaction was an im-

South Korea Ripped by Red Revolt

Loyal Army Units Winning Back Area; U. S. Forces Not Involved in Fight

Seoul, Korea (Thursday), Oct. 21 (AP).—Loyal Korean army forces began to win back control of the southern area ripped by a bloody revolt—described as Communist led. Possibly 4000 Korean troops and sympathizers in the United States occupation zone were involved in the revolt.

Korean army headquarters in Seoul reported that while the seaport of Yosu—focal point of the day-old uprising—presumably is in rebel hands, the larger city of Suncheon, 20 miles northeast, had not fallen. Four army companies at Suncheon are intact, a spokesman said.

Headquarters received an unconfirmed report that fighting had extended as far as Namwon, 50 miles north of Yosu. There was no indication of large-scale fighting.

Army sources said it was possible the main body of insurgents had taken to the hills northeast of Suncheon. The spokesman expressed confidence the small, American-trained army would be able to prevent the insurrection from spreading.

President Syngman Rhee speeded back from a Tokyo conference with General MacArthur, declared martial law, and ordered strong troops and police detachments sent south.

Korean army sources blamed a "Communist cell" in the Yosu garrison for the outbreak. They said the "cell" leader was arrested recently and his followers may have sought retaliation against the authorities.

Officials in Seoul did not regard the uprising as a widespread army plot. They said its army connection seemed to be merely a "cell" of

U. S. Votes With Arab Nations To Shelve Palestine Problem

Israeli Cabinet Ends Session With No Word Of Cease-Fire Order

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 20 (AP).—Fighting flared with new violence in southern Palestine tonight as the Israeli cabinet met without acting on the United Nations Security Council's cease-fire order.

The Israeli cabinet has accepted the cease-fire order but at a late hour had not decided the hour at which Israeli troops will be ordered to stop firing, the New York Herald Tribune said tonight.

All Arab countries will join in the present Palestine warfare as the result of Israel's continued "aggression" against Egypt and disregard of the cease-fire order, Abdul Rahman Azam Pasha, secretary-general of the Arab League, told newsmen Wednesday night in Cairo.

A 35-minute air-raid alert was sounded tonight in the Egyptian capital.

The Israeli cabinet adjourned for a recess tonight without reaching a decision on a cease-fire order, although earlier the Foreign Office had told U. N. representatives the time and date an Israeli cease-fire would be effective.

The United Press said unidentified aircraft, presumably Arab, raided Haifa and a colony near Tel Aviv a few hours after Israel ordered its forces in the Negev desert to cease firing. No damage was reported.

The Americans have several major problems in their Palestine approach. First, they work under the nominal direction of President Truman. In two weeks the Palestine debate might still not be finished by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Resolution Reported To Ask Immediate End of Blockade As Opening Step

Paris, Oct. 20 (AP).—A new formula for settling the Berlin crisis was submitted to the Big Four powers tonight by the six "neutral" members of the United Nations Security Council.

Authoritative quarters said the new resolution appeared "eminently satisfactory" to the Western powers. Russia's Andrei A. Vishinsky promised to send the draft to Moscow for study.

One neutral source said Vishinsky had approved the resolution conditionally, but there was no confirmation of this from the Soviet delegation or from any other source.

Some Western sources, while agreeing that the plan offered a possible way out, were cautious about its chances of success.

One high Western official said: "The possibility of a settlement remains, but I would go no farther than that."

The resolution was reported to recommend that Russia lift the Berlin blockade within 48 hours after the Security Council approves the proposal. The Western powers were asked to agree to a meeting

British Commonwealth To Strengthen Arms

London, Oct. 20 (NYHT).—A strengthening of the armed forces of the nine nations of the British Commonwealth to meet "the danger of war" was announced tonight from the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference.

A communique said there was agreement the danger of war must be met by building up armed forces in order to deter any would-be aggressor. . . .

The communique is recognized as a policy commitment which will be carried into force by Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, southern Rhodesia and Britain.

of the Council of Foreign Ministers on Berlin and the whole German problem immediately after the blockade is lifted.

One neutral source said the framers of the proposal were hopeful of winning Soviet support by making the points recommendations and not submitting them as demands on the big powers.

Informal quarters said the resolution would make the following specific recommendations:

1. An appeal to the four powers not to take any decision or make any move which might lead to war.

2. A call to Russia to lift her blockade of Berlin's western sectors in all its phases—road, rail and canal.

3. A provision that the four powers should meet in the near future to discuss the Berlin problem.

New Hydraulic Oil to Cut Fire Danger in Planes

New York, Oct. 20 (AP).—A new hydraulic oil, made to reduce danger from fires in aircraft, was announced here today by the Douglas Aircraft Co. and Monsanto Chemical Co.

This fluid will blaze in the flame of an acetylene torch, but the fire goes out when the torch is removed, and the fluid does not flame at any point not touched by the torch. On a red hot pipe, the new fluid does not burn, but turns into a harmless smoke. Sprayed on a burning oil rag, the fluid does not increase the flames.

Hydraulic fluid is piped all over a plane, under pressure, and the pressure operates landing gears, brakes, wing flaps, windshield wipers, and other mechanisms. The fluid has to be oily, also noncorrosive, and not thicken under great cold nor thin under heat, and it has to be lightweight. The new fluid was said by the announcement to last about twice as long as other fluids, because it is oilier and tougher. The trade name is Skydrol.

Survey Shows Housing Is Big Navy 'Gripe'

Monsignor Sheehy Collects Complaints At Denfeld's Request

By John G. Norris Post Reporter

The Navy has launched an unprecedented effort to uncover the "gripes" of its enlisted men and do something about them.

Chief complaints heard thus far are of poor housing and "civilian discrimination." Sailors protest that many civilian communities treat men in uniform and their wives as "socially inferior."

Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, Chief of Naval Operations, is personally responsible for the ear-to-the-ground move. He calls it a "mural educational plan" for the ranks and the high command.

Red Tape Clipped

"We want to provide the men of the Navy from the recruit up with a sounding board at the very top," said Denfeld.

As a starter he asked the Right Rev. Maurice S. Sheehy of Catholic University, a wartime Navy chaplain, to make a personal sampling of the likes and dislikes, the problems and "beefs" of the Navy's 400,000 bluejackets.

The procedure was unprecedented as it cut through red tape and normal operations. Monsignor Sheehy went direct to the men, at Denfeld's personal representative, and reported directly back, without "going through channels."

It was Monsignor Sheehy who reported the Navy enlisted men's "bitter" feeling that civilian communities treat them unfairly and as "inferiors." He also reported that here and elsewhere housing built for Navy men have been turned over to civilians, forcing petty officers to pay out half their salaries for a "one-room apartment or hotel."

Wider Survey Ordered

In accordance with the Washington clergyman's recommendations, Denfeld has ordered a much wider survey conducted than Monsignor Sheehy's one-man sampling, and plans to install an "internal public relations program" for the Navy.

Denfeld believes this should be a long-range, constant plan, to make the Navy as happy a place for the individual as we possibly can.

He indicated the survey would be extended to give junior officers a similar sounding board. Monsignor Sheehy's survey involved interviews with 482 enlisted men of all ranks, attached to 16

House Gains Also Predicted By Democrats

By Robert C. Albright Post Reporter

Democratic leaders, still silently pessimistic over presidential prospects, yesterday predicted they not only will upset the GOP Senate but make "material gains" in the House.

The House forecast came from Representative Michael J. Kirwan (Ohio), chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee.

It was backed up by Capt. Victor Hunt Harding, executive secretary of the committee. Harding raised Kirwan's ante.

"We (the Democrats) will pick up a minimum of 10 House seats and our net gain there could rise to 45," he said. "In fact, we have a 50-50 chance of organizing the next House."

But Republican leaders, stuck by their claims that the House will be "safely" Republican.

Said Representative Leonard W. Hall (N. Y.), chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee:

"I think we (the Republicans) will do more than hold what we now have in the House. We will register a net gain of from 8 to 10 seats."

The spurt in Democratic House hopes largely stemmed from reports from State leaders that the President's anti-Congress campaign, although it may not have improved his own outlook enough to win, has added zing to the House Democratic campaign.

The reports were particularly bright from heavy labor-voting districts in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Michigan, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

CIO-PAC has moved into these districts with funds, personnel and campaign literature to help until recently discouraged Democratic organizations turn out the vote.

Theory behind the stepped-up Democratic House drive is that the Democrats will be impounded

N. Y.-Bound Plane Crashes In Scotland

7 Americans Listed Among 40 Aboard; Majority Are Killed

Tarbolton, Scotland (Thursday), Oct. 21 (AP).—A KLM Dutch Airlines Constellation en route to New York crashed into a slope 1 mile from Prestwick Airfield early today, killing a majority of the 40 persons aboard.

Seven Americans were among the 31 passengers, KLM said. Six survivors, including an American woman and the only one of nine Dutch crew members saved, were hospitalized.

[The Associated Press said the American woman was identified as Mrs. Matilda Robs of New Jersey. Hospital attendants said she was badly hurt. An eyewitness said "her clothes were on fire when she was dragged out of the plane. They pulled her clothes off and beat out the flames."

Among the other survivors were the Dutch air hostess and one of the crew.]

Winging in from Amsterdam and preparing to land at Prestwick, the giant plane reportedly struck a wide pasture area, and bodies were scattered among the debris.

The ship twice circled this hamlet of 600 population. It radioed: "We are on fire."

At 12:50 a. m. (7:50 p. m., Wednesday, EST), it smashed into a sloping field near a farmhouse. Burning wreckage was strewn over a wide pasture area, and bodies were scattered among the debris.

Among the American, Dutch, Swiss, South African, British, Czech, Austrian and Greek passengers were a number of women and children.

Piloting the Constellation was Captain Parmentier, who flew in the England-to-Australia air races in 1934 and had the reputation of being a transatlantic commercial airlines ace.

Among the first to reach the crash scene was a miner.

In Dispute for 143 Years U. S. Court Rights of Citizens Here to Be Argued Friday

By Murray Marder Post Reporter

A major question of the legal rights of District citizens in Federal courts outside Washington—in dispute for 143 years—is scheduled to be argued before the Supreme Court Friday.

If Congress has power to give these benefits to the District, said opponents of the court rights at final pre-argument briefs were submitted, it would follow that Congress can also extend such rights as the right to vote in the District.

Under test in the case is the 1940 Gwynne Act, which states that citizens of the District and territories have the same rights as citizens of a State to sue and be sued in Federal Courts.

Legally, the question is whether that act could constitutionally extend these rights and construe the District and Territories as "States."

Without this right, a resident of Maryland, for example, can sue a Virginia resident in a Federal Court in Virginia, or, if mutually agreeable, in a Virginia State Court. But a District resident, in the same Virginia case, has access only to the State courts, and is denied the extra "protection" available to State residents in "unprejudiced" Federal courts.

The National Mutual Insurance Co. of the District, which has brought suit in the present case—involving a $10,000 breach of contract—maintains that Federal court rights for the District's citizens are wholly constitutional.

Supporting the insurance company, but taking no part in the actual contract issue, the Department of Justice agrees that denial of such rights would be gross discrimination to the District.

Defendant in the suit, the Tidewater Transfer Co. of Virginia, says the Constitution does not give those rights to the District, and the transfer company has been upheld by the Federal District Court in Baltimore and the United States Court of Appeals at Richmond. Similar contentions have also been upheld elsewhere.

If Congress has the broad powers over the District which supporters of the 1940 law claim, said attorneys for the transfer company in a written brief this week: "... what will prevent it from declaring that 'District citizens may vote, since 'justice and equality' dictate that they should be afforded representation in Congress as well as a voice in the election of the President."

A key ruling involved is a decision by the Supreme Court in 1857, known as the Dred Scott case, which held that Negroes were not citizens of the United States.

No Official Word Of Revolt Received

Acting Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett said last night the State Department has received no official word of the reported Communist-led revolt among the South Korean constabulary.

He also said he had no confirmation of reports that Russian troops actually are being withdrawn from North Korea.

possibly 40 soldiers in the Yosu garrison who persuaded 600 to 800 others to join.

The fight between rebellious troops and the police was explained by the long bitter rivalry between the army (constabulary) and local police.

One police official said the plan was believed to have called originally for kidnapping Dr. Rhee. He said southern Korea radio stations were to have been seized and Rhee forced to broadcast that his government was abdicating.

It is the first stern test for the republic, founded only August 15. The revolt came as Russia announced it was pulling troops out of North Korea.

As far as is known, no U. S. occupation troops are involved.

The United Press quoted Maj. Gen. John Coulter, United States commander, as saying it was "an internal Korean affair" and that Americans would not intervene except to protect American property and lives.

The rebels marched on the police station, killed or captured all the police.

McGrath Challenge Disregarded

Dewey Asks 'Decisive' Action To Strengthen Free Nations

By Edward T. Follard Post Reporter

New York, Oct. 20.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey passed up a chance to cross swords with U. S. Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island tonight when he two appeared on the same platform to talk about foreign policy.

McGrath, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, appeared as a representative of President Truman, gave Governor Dewey plenty of provocation for a retort.

Speaking just ahead of the Republican presidential nominee in the New York Herald Tribune Forum, McGrath underlined three points:

1. President Truman's record as a combat soldier in World War I and the fact that this made him "a crusader for peace."

2. The isolationist record of the Republican Party and the fear this causes among America's friends in Europe.

3. The fact that "some have become—though a bit belatedly—converted to our bipartisan foreign policy." This seemed to be an echo of Mr. Truman's statement in St. Paul that Governor Dewey was a "recent convert" to international responsibility.

Governor Dewey, the last speaker at tonight's forum in the Waldorf-Astoria ballroom, had prepared a nonpartisan address. He followed it faithfully.

The GOP nominee was not on the stage while McGrath delivered his speech. It would be very surprising, however, if his alert press aides failed to inform him of the contents of the text, which had been distributed hours before.

McGrath cut short his remarks when he heard Governor Dewey was about to arrive. Then he joined with others in applauding as the candidate walked on the stage.

The New Yorker said that "there can be no isolation for America."

He said the greatest fear among America's friends in Europe was no withdrawing from a world where freedom and tyranny are locked in a deadly struggle for survival.

He said that the United States must "act decisively" to strengthen the nations of the free world if there is to be peace.

Senator McGrath started out by saying that the peace of the world was bound up in the hearts of a small group of world leaders.

"I come to you tonight," he said, "as a representative one of those leaders—the President of the United States."

"I can say to you," he continued, "what modesty would forbid the President to say for himself as fully as his experience would justify. President Truman's deep hatred of war stems from his normal reaction as a combat soldier. For the President to say that might be widely misinterpreted."

"It is true that a soldier who has fought in battle is the most ardent seeker of peace. A man whose soul has been sickened by the vile horrors of war, naturally becomes a crusader for peace."

The Senator said the search for world peace had been Mr. Truman's "greatest preoccupation," not only during his years in the White House but for many troubled years.

He said the Chief Executive had a long and distinguished record "on the right side of this issue." Then he turned his attention to the Republicans.

Korean Rebellion Unlikely to Upset

Syngman Rhee, Land's Patriarchal Head

Amidst the Red rebellion rolling "the land of the morning calm," Syngman Rhee, the patriarchal President of South Korea, can be expected to keep his head.

The frail, gentle 73-year-old patriot kept his head through seven months of torture, seven years of imprisonment and 40 years of exile in unrelenting battle against the Korean dynasty and their Jap overlords.

The kindly little scholar kept his head—now white haired—even though the Japanese placed a value of $100,000 on it.

The Allied victory of World War II brought to Dr. Rhee fulfillment of one lifelong ambition: to drive the Japs out of his homeland.

His second goal, a free and independent Republic of Korea, has been achieved but partially. Free elections have been held in the southern half of Korea, occupied by the American forces, and a democratic government has been chosen, with Dr. Rhee as President. But northern Korea, with one third of the population and most of the hydroelectric power and heavy industry, is controlled by the Russian army of occupation.

Korea is a mountainous peninsula, roughly the shape of Florida, but half again as big, reaching from Manchuria and Siberia toward Japan. Its 25,000,000 people are Mongoloid, a race apart from both the Chinese and Japanese, with a language and culture of their own extending back several thousand years.

For centuries Korea fought off Jap attempts at infiltration, but by 1910 Japan had annexed it completely, and ground it under an iron heel.

Rhee Learns Democracy

Syngman Rhee, descendant of the ruling Yi dynasty, was undertaking the traditional training for classical scholarship and a government post when he entered a Methodist mission school in order to learn English. He not only learned the English language, but also became imbued with American ideas of democracy. At the age of 19 he joined a movement demanding democratic reform of the Korean monarchy and became its leader at 20.

Two years later Rhee led a protest of students against the government. He was arrested, and for seven months lay with hands, feet and neck locked in wooden stocks awaiting execution. It was in this period that he was converted to Christianity.

The death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment and Rhee spent the next seven years in prison, studying and writing the "Spirit of Independence," a guidebook for Korean patriots. Freed in 1904, Rhee went to America, studied at George Washington University, Harvard and Princeton, where he came under the influence of Woodrow Wilson, then president of Princeton.

Rhee slipped back to Korea as Methodist missionary teacher, meanwhile organizing a resistance movement. He fled with the Japs at his heels, and turned to Hawaii, where he established a church, school and newspaper. In 1919 the resistance movement elected Rhee President of the Korean provisional government in exile. The hunted Rhee was smuggled into Shanghai, where his government met, in a coffin.

Popular in Washington

Reelected President regularly, Rhee relinquished the post in favor of Kim Koo, another independence leader, in 1941. Meanwhile, Rhee set up a Korean commission in Washington to seek, unsuccessfully, official United States support for the government-in-exile. He returned to Korea in 1945 and was elected President of the new republic this summer.

While vainly fighting free Korea's cause before the League of Nations at Geneva in 1934, he met and married Francesca Donner, an Austrian. The couple was for many years popular in the diplomatic social set here.

Dr. Rhee has been an outspoken foe of communism and is considered in some quarters as an extreme Rightist. However, he has proposed a program calling for redistribution of Jap-owned land, nationalization of heavy industry, universal suffrage and progressive taxation.

Whatever his politics, there appears to be no question but that the dapper, dainty-appearing Rhee is the kind of a man to keep his head in a storm.

Maj. Gen. Orlando Ward, commander of the Sixth Division at Pusan (Fusan), told the Associated Press by telephone he is "reasonably sure" no Americans were caught in the fighting.

Ward said he had only "indirect information" on the revolt. Pusan is 85 miles east of Suncheon.

The Jews occupied Wajala and part of Shafarfat, but were driven out later, the Jerusalem adviser said. The Jews were reported shelling Beit Igal, a town between the two points, and Beit Jala. Civilian casualties were reported crowding the 30-bed hospital in Beit Jala.

An Israeli communiqué said Arab troops shelled and machine-gunned Jewish positions in Jerusalem, and "fire was returned by our forces." One shell hit the U. S. Navy radio station within the U. S. Consulate compound.

An Israeli army spokesman said air and ground fighting also had resumed tonight in the Negev—the southern desert—with new intensity.

The feeling in Tel Aviv was that Jews had accomplished both the military and bargaining position they desired in the south. Their Negev supply route was secured and the supply route of the Egyptians with Hebron and Bethlehem was breached.

He called upon the U. N. to extend prompt measures of relief to the destitute Arabs, forced to flee Palestine.

ships and six shore stations. He spent a month on the job talking to seamen, Waves, and petty officers here, along the East Coast, at Great Lakes, Ill. and aboard ships of the Atlantic Fleet.

Commenting on the sailors' charges of "civilian discrimination," the Washington priest said: "Men of the Navy, have while aboard ship and away from the country, are profoundly influenced by the attitude of civilians toward men in sailor's uniform. The tradition that the sailor is an amorous bum has been largely dissipated."

Cites Worst Offenders

"Nevertheless, at a time when racial segregation and civil rights are receiving much attention, many civilians give the impression that men in uniform are socially inferior. This is particularly true of cities where the Navy has large installations."

"Only 39 per cent of the men felt that sailors were treated fairly in the community in which they were at present stationed. Some complained bitterly at the social discrimination of civilians against the wives of enlisted personnel. Of the men interviewed, 32 per cent felt that the uniform made the enlisted man inferior to civilians; 30 per cent equal and 5 per cent that it made him superior."

Monsignor Sheehy added that despite this finding "practically every man" said he was "proud of his uniform." Fifty-six per cent of the men said they wore their uniform while on liberty, although a much lower proportion of married men did so than single men.

The C. U. priest recommended that the Navy use "external public relations" to "remind civilians that men in uniform are public servants, most of whom braved the perils of war, and all of whom are now making sacrifices for the good of the country."

Monsignor Sheehy reported that 40 per cent of the single men he interviewed said they did not intend to marry while in the Navy, and only 20 per cent thought their present incomes was sufficient to support a wife and family.

"The primary obstacle to normal, decent living in the Navy is lack of adequate housing," he declared.

He told Admiral Denfield the Navy lacks "an adequate program of internal public relations" to make the men of the fleet aware of the importance of their job to the Nation and the world. Primary responsibility for morale, he insisted, should be placed on the junior officers directly in contact with the men, rather than commanding officers of ships and stations.

Such junior officers, Monsignor Sheehy urged, must know their men, their problems and take personal concern in their welfare.

Other findings in the C. U. priest's report:

About one-fifth of the men complained about their food. Many others praised it.

A smaller number criticized their living quarters.

A few—2.5 per cent—thought the social distance between officers and men should be lessened. One man complained about naval justice.

Well over half of the men said they joined the Navy for a career or to learn a trade, rather than to "see the world."

About one-seventh of the men once left the Navy and came back, largely for a career or because of the better companionship of naval life. Eighty-one per cent felt the Navy gave a better opportunity to make real friends than civilian life. Some 406 of 453 liked the security of the Navy.

Fifty-four per cent preferred sea duty over shore duty. Forty per cent said they plan to reenlist.

Morgenthau Arrives In Israel for Survey

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 20 (UP).—Former American Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau arrived by plane today to survey Israel on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal. He was accompanied by department store executive Nathan Straus and Curtis Roosevelt Boettiger, personal representative of his grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Morgenthau told Israeli officials at the airport that "your war is a test of civilization and of the United Nations."

Asylum Granted 2 Russian Fliers Flee To U. S. Zone

Vienna, Austria, Oct. 20 (AP).—The United States Army disclosed today two Russian air force officers fled to the American zone on October 9. They said "Voice of America" broadcasts inspired their flight.

Taking off from a base in the Russian Ukraine the Soviet officers landed at Camp McCauley, near Linz, in their twin-motored bombing plane.

Announcement of the flight was made today after Lieut. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, American commander in Austria, refused the demand of Col. Gen. Vladimir V. Kourasov, Russian commander, that they be surrendered to him.

The two officers, lieutenants, have been granted the status of political refugees. They said they planned the flight for one year, though it meant leaving their families behind them to face possible Communist retaliation.

Russians Get Plane
A Russian air force sergeant, whom the officers brought with them, elected to go home and was turned over to Soviet liaison officers last night.

Their "Type J" twin-engine bombing plane has been dismantled and hauled to the Soviet zone by Russians.

For 11 days the flight was a secret here and in Washington, backed up by citation to correspondents of the Army's articles of war regarding disclosure of confidential information.

The reason was that the decision to grant the officers asylum established officially an important precedent in the traditional American policy of granting right of asylum. The climax came today after Russian liaison officers pleaded nine hours with the officers to go back home voluntarily.

It is the hope here that the Russians will regard the case as an individual incident, which has been closed, and will not retaliate against American airmen who may make forced landings in Russian-held territory, especially those engaged in the Berlin airlift service.

The two lieutenants, whose names are still kept secret, were members of different units. They had to wait first until they got the chance of an assignment on the same plane. They had to wait secondly until their flight together was the first of the day, so that they could get enough scarce gasoline.

American intelligence agents questioned the Russians repeatedly, suspecting they might be "planted" refugees intended to become spies.

It was decided they were real refugees. General Keyes held consultations with Washington and it was decided not to force the men to return.

Relations Friendly Recently

The American decision makes official a two-year-old unwritten American policy here of offering political asylum to refugees from behind the iron curtain. Until 1946, the Americans abided by an agreement with the Russians to hand over deserters. Since then the pact has been quietly ignored. American-Russian relations here have been unusually friendly recently. Colonel-General Kourasov accepted quietly the refusal to hand over his men and there is considerable hope that he and other Russian commanders will regard the incident as closed.

Czech Radio Assails Tito

By the United Press

Czechoslovakia has leveled a new blast at Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, who split with the Communist Cominform nearly four months ago. Government radio monitors disclosed yesterday.

They reported a Prague radio broadcast had labeled Tito as a "deserter" who opposes the Soviet Union, and has set up a police regime in his country.

Diplomatic officials here said relations between the United States and Yugoslavia are no better than they were before the Tito-Cominform split.

Yugoslav propaganda continues to attack the United States as a "capitalist enemy" of the world's working classes.

Russians Purge Berlin's 2 Top Communists

Berlin, Oct. 20 (AP).—Berlin's two top Communists were replaced by men close to the Kremlin today in a purge which may be the prelude, informed sources said, to establishment of a "people's republic" in the Soviet occupation zone.

[The New York Herald Tribune correspondent reported the Russians in Berlin announced tonight their refusal to permit municipal elections unless the Western Allies agreed to withdraw the west mark to incorporate the city economically into the Soviet zone and to accept a half a dozen additional demands. Soviet Commandant Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov said if all the conditions were accepted the Soviets would be highly in favor of elections as soon as possible. An American spokesman said tonight that at first hearing the conditions were unacceptable.]

[The Associated Press said guns were being handed out to Moscow-trained police throughout the eastern zone today as anti-Communists said the Red uprising in Korea should be a warning to Germany. German editors and political leaders pointed out that the Korean revolt began the very day Moscow announced Russian troops were beginning to leave north Korea. The Communist bloc foreign ministers of Europe recently proposed that all occupying powers quit Germany just as Russia proposed leaving Korea recently. The Germans commented that the Russians trained Communists in Korea just as they are training Communists in the Soviet zone of Germany. (Unconfirmed estimates placed the police force at from 100,000 to 400,000.)

Britain Arms Europe With Twin-Jet Craft

London, Oct. 20 (AP).—Britain has begun rearming western Europe with her deadly Meteor twin-jet fighters, authoritative sources said today.

First deliveries already have been made to Holland, these sources said. France has received an unknown number of Vampire single-engine jet fighters.

Other Brussels pact countries will receive a steady supply of jets as Britain's recently announced 100 per cent increase in fighter production gets under way, these sources added.

The air rearmament and revamping of air bases are the first important moves in the over-all defense plan now being studied by a committee of military experts in London under Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

ERP Progress Review Begun

Paris, Oct. 20 (NYHT).—Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul G. Hoffman arrived here this morning by plane from New York for an eight-day review of the progress of European recovery. He was met by his Ambassador-at-Large for Europe, W. Averell Harriman.

The Marshall Plan chief plunged immediately into an all-day conference with ECA mission chiefs assembled in Paris from all ERP countries. Hoffman plans to see Foreign Minister Robert Schuman Thursday.

The ECA talks will be continued here Thursday and Friday.

Letters From U. S. Favor Arms Cut, Moscow Reports Russian Sub Fleet Put at 250 With 100 Being Built

By The Associated Press

Russia claims it is receiving letters from the United States and "all corners of the world" supporting the Soviet proposal for a one-third reduction of all armed forces.

A Soviet official broadcast to the Far East yesterday said one American wrote the Soviet delegation at the United Nations General Assembly at Paris:

"If Roosevelt were here today our people would have a true leader, which we do not have today. I consider that your proposal for a reduction of armaments is a good proposal. The American people want Russia to remain in the U. N."

Moscow termed the letter "naive" but sincere. "Knowing conditions in Washington," it identified the writer only as "Glen X."

London, Oct. 20 (AP).—Jane's Fighting Ships, authoritative publication on the world's navies, said tonight Russia has about 250 submarines in service and "fully 100 more" under construction.

"It is evident, therefore, that Russia, like Germany, is inclined to rely chiefly on the submarine as a naval weapon," said the foreword to the fiftieth edition of Jane's, which will be published Thursday.

The book said also, "The Japanese fleet is about to rise like a phoenix from its ashes." It explained:

"Though its present material is limited to 50,000 tons, with no single vessel displacing more than 1500 tons, this may well prove to be the nucleus of a new navy."

Dewey Atom Ideas Irk Sen. McMahon

Senator Brien McMahon (D., Conn.) asserted yesterday that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey "owes it to the American people to clarify his stand" on atomic energy control and development.

McMahon, sponsor of the 1946 Atomic Energy Act, sharply criticized the Republican presidential nominee in an article written for the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists.

The Connecticut Democrat said Dewey's speech on Atomic Energy at Phoenix, Ariz., on September 23 was "vague" and "in many ways contradictory."

Dewey said atomic development should not be left forever under "the dead hand of Government" and pointed out that such fields as electric power and transportation were developed largely by the initiative of private industry.

"Apparently he wants private firms to produce fashionable materials," McMahon said.

Warning that any such move would "place in the hands of private corporations a force equal to the possession of a private army or navy," McMahon said Dewey "apparently misunderstands the meaning of atomic energy."

"He implies that atomic energy is 'just another source of power'—an error paralleling the naive notion that the atomic bomb is 'just another weapon,'" the Senator asserted.

"Certainly the 'dead hand of Government' did not retard development of the bomb," he said. "On the contrary, the United States would not possess the bomb today if it had not been for the Government's initiative."

Hatch Pledges Move Against Act Violators

By The Associated Press

Senator Hatch (D., N. Mex.) promised yesterday to take personal action against any Federal employee who is proved to have engaged in unlawful political activities in New Mexico.

"But I want facts—not gossip," he told a reporter.

It was announced Tuesday that a House Executive Expenditures Subcommittee investigator will look into complaints that Federal employees have been politically active in behalf of Democrats in New Mexico.

Frank T. Bow, counsel for the subcommittee, said one complaint is that Government employees are spreading word that various Federal funds for use in the State will be cut off if Republicans are elected.

Hatch said reports that the workers are violating the Hatch Anti-Politics Act, of which he is author, are "contrary to everything that I have heard from the State."

Chairman Hugh Scott of the Republican National Committee said yesterday there has been "scandalous mobilization of Federal payrollers" in the New Mexico senatorial campaign. He declared law violators will be prosecuted "by the Dewey-Warren administration."

Clinton P. Anderson, Democrat, former Secretary of Agriculture, is running against Patrick J. Hurley, Republican, in the New Mexico contest.

Scott made public a telegram to Hurley saying press and radio accounts of Secretary of Interior Krug's "invasion of New Mexico" indicate "flagrant violations of the Hatch Act."

'Baby Sitter' Sues Her For Divorce

MRS. EVELYN C. FERRIER
Mother, 19; baby, 6 months

Atlanta, Oct. 20 (AP)—A 62-year-old bridegroom sued his 19-year-old wife for divorce, claiming she married him just to get a baby sitter.

The wife, Evelyn Capes Ferrier, when advised of the suit yesterday, replied, "Pooh, looks to me like an annulment is all we need, and, goodness knows, I'm willing."

The petition for divorce by Louis Ferrier said they were married October 11; that his wife took her 6-month-old baby by a previous marriage on their honeymoon.

Further, Ferrier alleged, she left him as a baby sitter on the honeymoon while she drank for seven hours with a soldier.

The husband also charged that she resisted his advances by placing the baby between them and later by exhibiting a "needle-sharp, double-edged dagger."

Said Mrs. Ferrier, "How can you get a divorce when you really haven't been married?"

The question will be decided in the DeKalb County Superior Court.

Sen. Revercomb Gets Backing

Spencer, W. Va., Oct. 20 (AP)—A flat assertion that Governor Dewey's headquarters is "doing everything possible to bring about the reelection of" Senator Revercomb (R., W. Va.) was disclosed here tonight.

William S. Ryan, chairman of the Roane County Republican executive committee, made public a letter dated October 14 from Herbert Brownell, Jr., Dewey's campaign manager.

Ryan explained the letter was in reply to a telegram he sent Dewey, the Republican presidential candidate, asking for a clear statement of his feelings toward Revercomb.

Brownell replied that "in answer to your inquiry, I wish to assure you that we are doing everything possible to bring about the reelection of Senator Revercomb and the entire West Virginia ticket."

Revercomb is opposed for reelection by M. M. Neely of Fairmont, former Senator, and political observers have felt that to date Revercomb has received virtually no assistance from Dewey and GOP Vice Presidential Candidate Earl Warren of California. The West Virginia race also is regarded as vital in GOP efforts to retain control of the Senate.

Brownell, in his letter, said: "Since it has not been possible to arrange Governor Dewey's itinerary to include West Virginia, Governor Warren was routed there."

During the August congressional session, Revercomb declined to press for revision, as requested by Dewey, of the displaced persons law.

Truman Vote by Civil Service Workers Declared a Myth

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—The civil service employees control (tricks in 1944 gave a majority for president of the U.S. Civil Service Commission said today inferences that Federal workers constitute a solid Democratic voting bloc are absurd.

Harry B. Mitchell, the commission head, told the National Association of Postmasters he was referring to charges that Federal by Federal employees, these dis-tricks in 1944 gave a majority for (Gov. Thomas E.) Dewey in both Virginia and Maryland," he said.

Loyalty investigations in the past year, Mitchell declared, show "that the proportion of persons in Government employment who can even be suspected of Sovietphobia is only infinitesimal."

Home State

Sen. Barkley Woos Miners In Kentucky

Covington, Ky., Oct. 20 (AP)—Senator Alben W. Barkley stumped his home State today with a plea for labor to vote Democratic and prevent a "return to hopelessness and despair."

"If you vote according to the common sense for which you are noted," the Democratic vice presidential nominee told a crowd of 2500 at Pineville this afternoon, "the Democratic Party will not only carry Kentucky but the entire United States."

From Pineville, in the heart of the traditionally Republican Ninth Congressional District, Barkley flew here to blame the Republicans for the high cost of living and to accuse them of seeking to slow down the progress of working men.

Many of those in his audience on the courthouse lawn at Pineville were coal miners who belong to John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America.

In 1932, he told the miners, they were receiving $1.68 a day "and getting only one or two days work a week, and now you are getting $14 a day or more and working a full week."

"Do you want to return to what you had under the Republicans?" The crowd enthusiastically shouted that it did not.

It was a Democratic Administration, Barkley said, that passed the Wagner Act which led to organization of the miners into a union. For 12 years before that, he said, the Republican Party "had discouraged organization of labor."

500 Georgians Hail Thurmond

Thomson, Ga., Oct. 20 (AP)—J. Strom Thurmond, States' Rights presidential candidate, said today the national Democratic Party "is nothing but a shell, a collection of subversives not fit for decent Americans."

Thurmond assailed President Truman and the national party's civil rights plank before a standing crowd of more than 500 on the courthouse lawn in this normally rock-ribbed Democratic stronghold.

In his bid for Georgia's 12 electoral voters Thurmond shouted amid cheers and yells:

"The civil rights program is the most un-American law ever proposed. It would undermine our Government, our Constitution and our way of life."

"It was borrowed from the Communists, who know well that they can never gain control of America as long as our fundamental rights are preserved to the States."

"If President Truman is not sincere in proposing this law, if he is trying to deceive the people, if he doesn't believe in it himself—as some Democrats keep telling us—he doesn't have the integrity and sincerity to be our President."

"If he really does believe in mixing the races in our churches and schools and in all of this un-American program, why doesn't he look us in the eye and defend his beliefs?"

"He has spoken in the South for the first time, in North Carolina, but he didn't open his mouth about it. It's a hot potato and he's scared to touch it."

Democrats Predict Gain in House Seats

loss of 54 seats and House control to Republicans in 1946 was due chiefly to the meat shortage panic that swept the country that fall, sweeping Democrats indiscriminately out of Congress in labor districts that are now repentantly returning to the fold.

There is only one bogey that checkmates the current wave of Democratic optimism that has only spread to the House within the week.

It is the fear that the predicted presidential landslide for Governor Dewey may cut wide enough and deep enough to wash out purely local issues altogether, and vote otherwise doubtful House GOP candidates in with their ticket leader.

Republicans frankly base their own claims of maintaining and extending their present control of the House on the "Dewey landslide" thesis, rather than strictly local factors.

The size of Governor Dewey's and President Truman's own popular vote, right now the subject of warm controversy even among the experts, in the end may tell the story.

GOP Concentrates on Senate

"Headquarters of both parties concede that the Senate, with only a third of its membership up for reelection, and with only four Democratic seats on the block outside the deep South, won't be nearly so susceptible to the impact of a landslide. This explains why Governor

Dewey himself, and his lieutenants down the line are still concentrating their major effort on saving the Republican Senate.

Within the last fortnight, however, Republicans have decided to run "scared" in both Houses. More and more GOP campaign emphasis has been shifted to the House, capped by Governor Dewey's personal appearance in House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck's own Second Indiana District last week.

Governor Dewey, who has always worked with comfortable Republican majorities in the New York Legislature, now has such a margin in the present 59-man GOP voting edge in the House, and is out to hold that, and build on it, if he can. But even return of the present 31-to-45 Senate division would give him only marginal control of that chamber.

Narrowing, or reversal of it, now predicted by the Democrats, would be little short of a Republican catastrophe.

Would Swing House

Democrats need a net gain of 31 House seats to establish a clear majority.

Claims of Captain Harding, who has a reputation for conservative forecasting, range from 21 votes short of House Democratic control, to a 14-seat Democratic margin, depending on "the breaks."

Here are the States Harding thinks will register a Democratic pickup: Pennsylvania, 5 to 6 seats; West Virginia, 2 to 3 seats; Ohio, 3 to 6 seats; Indiana, 2 to 3; Illinois, 2 to 3; Michigan, 2; Wisconsin, 1 to 2; Minnesota, 2; Missouri, 3 to 4.

His list doesn't include New York, where Administration handling of the Palestine issue, plus the Wallace defection, has cut into registration figures and the Democratic vote. Republicans frankly expect to make their best House

I HATE DANDRUFF!

You can't combat it effectively with ordinary preparations that merely remove loose dandruff. They're no better than plain water and brushing!

Double DANDERINE GUARANTEES DANDRUFF RELIEF
Kills dandruff-causing germ—on contact!

This refreshingly fragrant, easy-to-use dandruff preparation has given truly remarkable results—even in some of the most stubborn cases!

The most common kind of dandruff is not a natural condition. Top ranking authorities say it is caused by a germ. And to effectively relieve this handicap to good looks and social success, you must destroy the germ. Ordinary preparations that simply remove loose dandruff are no more effective than plain water and brushing, because they can't combat this germ. But a remarkable product called Double Danderine is amazingly effective, because it actually kills this germ—on contact!

That's why we say Double Danderine guarantees dandruff relief. Try it. If you're not completely satisfied, return the empty bottle and your money will be refunded.

Pharmacopoeia Official, the germ which leading authorities say is the cause of the most common kind of dandruff.*

Warren Accorded Ovation by Legion

Miami, Fla., Oct. 20 (AP).—Republican Vice Presidential Nominee Earl Warren won thunderous applause from the American Legion National convention today by speaking out in support of universal military training.

Warren, Governor of California, received an ovation at the start of his speech, and was roundly cheered when he said "every American should be trained to do his part in the protection of his home as well as his Nation."

The Californian said he believed it possible to work out a grand strategy to win the peace as it was possible for winning the war. He drew his greatest applause when he said:

"Warfare could be brought to the doorstep of every American. Therefore every American should be trained to do his part in the protection of his home as well as his Nation. And until we do have universal military training there will be a weakness in the armor of America, regardless of the strength of our armed forces."

The Legion supports universal military training.

Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, told the Legionnaires, "You can never win a peace by missions to Moscow."

The Republican leader, who is campaigning for Dewey and Warren, declared, "You can never win peace by coddling communism at home or abroad."

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder warned the Legionnaires that the Federal budget picture for the year is not encouraging.

The Government is "in the red again," he said, and will not be able to reduce the public debt during the next fiscal year because of increased expenditures for foreign aid and reduced taxes. He criticized the Eightieth Congress for cutting taxes at its recent session.

AFL President Green followed Snyder with an appeal for the Legion to help "eliminate measures which make for class antagonism and which weaken our Nation by fomenting strife and bitterness between capital and labor."

This apparently was a reference to the Taft-Hartley law, which the AFL opposes.

Legion Urges Action Against Possible War

Miami, Fla., Oct. 20 (AP).—The American Legion tonight condemned the Soviet blockade of Berlin as an "act of aggression which could kindle the flames of war" and urged the United States to continue a policy of firmness coupled with "preparation against the possibility of war."

In a series of resolutions, the 344 delegates to the Legion's thirtieth convention, also urged Congress to pass legislation outlawing the Communist Party and reiterated previous convention "civil rights" stands against "mob violence, for tolerance . . . for an end to racial strife and unrest."

The resolution on foreign relations, which included the attack on the Russian Berlin blockade, also urged that the United States halt the flow of potential war supplies to "any nation threatening the peace of the world."

An "Americanism" report that included separate resolutions from several delegations warned against relaxing the Legion's vigilance against subversive acts. This report commended the Federal Bureau of Investigation and urged all to guard children against attempts to "instill and implant into the minds of the younger generation the impression that communism is the cure-all."

Detroit Man Elected 40 and 8 Commander

Miami Beach, Fla., Oct. 20 (AP).—Harold J. Riley of Detroit, Mich., today was unanimously elected national commander of the 40 and 8, American Legion society.

Legion's UMT Plan Is Urged by Auxiliary

Miami, Fla., Oct. 20 (AP).—Two resolutions urging Congress to adopt an American Legion plan for universal military training were approved today by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The women's group also proclaimed rehabilitation for war veterans its top project for the coming year.

Party to Stay, Wallace Says

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 20 (AP).—Henry Wallace wound up a 9500-mile cross-country campaign jaunt tonight with the assertion his Progressive Party is here to stay and will "become the first party of this country."

"We're going to take our country back from the bankers and the generals and give it back to the people where it belongs," the Progressive presidential candidate said in a prepared address.

Declaring he "feels a little sorry for President Truman, Wallace said "he's going to take the worst licking any Democratic candidate has ever taken."

Kennan Says Reds Must Gain Wisdom

New York, Oct. 20 (AP).—Secretary of State Marshall's top policy adviser said tonight that we must find a way to "bring wisdom, at least in the sense of an enlightened self-interest," to the Soviet Union.

In a speech delivered at the New York Herald Tribune Forum, George F. Kennan declared:

"Some way or other we must find means to bring wisdom, at least in the sense of an enlightened self-interest, to those whose thoughts are today oriented solely to the pursuit of political greatness in the forum of world domination. For it is imperative that the peace-loving peoples of the world should be permitted to get on at last with this business of the development of international association for which the conditions of life in our time cry out so urgently and which has been so long delayed."

Last-Minute Revision

State Department officials said a last-minute revision of the address put the passage in that form. The text as originally given out in advance said the alternative was to "bring wisdom" to the Soviets or to "persuade them, in their own interest, to stand aside."

Kennan declared that the conflict at the U. N. meeting in Paris is not between the United States and Russia. Rather, he said:

"It is a conflict between the majority of the U. N. members acting in support of the Charter and a group of governments who refuse to abide by its provisions or to recognize the overriding international obligations which the Charter constitutes."

Kennan, director of the policy planning staff of the State Department, was the formulator of the "X" plan, a "containment" policy intended to prevent Russian expansion. He gained fame months ago as the "Mr. X" who wrote a magazine article describing that policy. He was identified as the writer some time after the article was published.

What Was Deleted

His remarks on what to do about Russia, from which the "stand aside" language was deleted, came in an outline of possible means for development of a "stronger and more effective" U. N. organization. The original said:

"Either we must find means to bring wisdom to those whose thoughts are today oriented solely to the pursuit of political greatness, in the form of world domination, or, if we cannot do this, and if these people remain stubbornly unwise, then we must persuade them, in their own interest, to stand aside and to permit the other peoples of the world to proceed at last with this business of the development of international association, for which the conditions of life in our time cry out so urgently and which have been so long delayed."

Dewey Asks Peace Strength

that this country might not have completely abandoned the faith of isolationism, he added:

"No matter how firmly a President—Republican or Democrat—may profess his personal conviction on this subject, the whole world knows that a Congress dominated by isolationists can sabotage the whole peace machinery."

"The example of what happened in the last session of the Eighty-ninth Congress, where only a handful of isolationists in high places came dangerously close to sabotaging the European recovery effort, is an example that we cannot afford to have repeated if we wish to retain the consistent reliance and trust of friendly nations abroad."

He said that the continuing threat of isolationism in America was the greatest single obstacle to be overcome.

"And it hardly seems necessary to remind you," he added, "where the threat of isolationism lies."

Senator McGrath concluded his speech by saying that there was reason to be optimistic about the future. He added:

"Many isolationists are finding in their election campaigns that they are out of step with America. It is reassuring that some have become—though a bit belatedly—converted to our bipartisan foreign policy."

"This reflection of virtual unanimity behind our bipartisan policy in the part of the American people is cause for hope that a just and lasting peace can be, and will be, achieved."

Governor Dewey told the Wall Street gathering that today's despots can only achieve their purpose by brute force.

"All history shows," he added, "that they will not be held in check by weakness. Peace will never be bought by appeasement. The peace of the world will only be secure when the forces on the side of peace are stronger than the forces on the side of evil."

Governor Dewey did not mention the prospect of following up the Marshall Plan by providing arms for anti-Communist nations on a lend-lease or mutual aid basis. However, this seemed to be in his mind as he said:

"For too long we have taken count of our weaknesses and counsel of our fears. Let us now take inventory of our strength."

"Let us act decisively to arouse and strengthen and solidify the free world so that the forces making for peace will be more powerful than the forces making for war."

"We can once again lead from strength and not from weakness. We can make it clear to all the world that America stands with the free peoples of Europe and North and South America and elsewhere in the world, determined to uphold the cause of human freedom and able to back up its determination."

"If we can unite our strength and draw together with all the people who believe with us in peace with honor and justice, we can bring together such a great force that once again the cause of freedom will be a vital and expanding thing. We will again bring hope to millions all over the world."

Governor Dewey came down to New York from Albany by train this afternoon planning to spend three days here. He is to make another talk Thursday night at a dinner in memory of Alfred E. Smith.

Devereux Named To Board of Boys Training School

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 20 (AP).—Governor Lane appointed Brig. Gen. James P. S. Devereux, retired Marine hero, to the board of managers of the Maryland Training School for Boys today.

Devereux, Wake Island commander at the outset of World War II, lives near Pikesville. He succeeds Albert Stark, Baltimore builder, on the board. His term runs until 1951.

Devereux retired August 1 following Pearl Harbor, and he and his wife, Mrs. Devereux, were held off attacking Japs for 20 days before being taken prisoner. During this time they were credited with sinking five Jap warships and downing numerous Jap planes.

nists in Barcelona imprisoned him toward the end of the Spanish Civil War for "disaffection to their government."

The board, which is mainly interested in the character of the applicant, then recommended to the Commissioners on September 20 that a permit be denied him. The Commissioners examined the evidence attached and referred the matter back to the board with a request for more specific reasons for the denial recommendation.

Board's Report Denied

Last Friday the board wrote the Commissioners that, during questioning on his background, Tietz "became aggravated and agitated very easily," and therefore "would not be a proper person to transport the plane."

When informed of the statement by the board last night, Tietz denied this, declaring that the board had "merely asked a few questions about my background and I answered them."

He emphasized that during World War II, he installed refrigeration equipment on Liberty ships at American ports and had been checked by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for this reason. He added that several local persons, including an official of the International Student House had submitted character recommendations on his behalf.

His selection of Howard University, which has almost an exclusively Negro student body, was made because its tuition fees "are low" and because he had met faculty members there when he was considered for a post on their German staff. The appointment was not made, he said, because he had not received a college degree.

During his years of political exile in Europe, Tietz said he had vehemently opposed the Nazi regime in Germany, had distributed anti-Fascist literature in Spain and fought in Socialist groups there, but not as part of the International Brigade.

the people from the wreckage but managed to save only one of the passengers," he said.

"She was an American woman. Her clothes were burning and we dragged her clear and put out the flames."

One eyewitness said that the plane's nose seemed to dig into the ground about two feet but that the fuselage bounced upward before it settled to earth. The engines were at the end of the fuselage at the other end.

Another witness said that shortly after the crash the plane and the fields were a "mass of flames and people." He said some of the dead were strewn many yards from the main wreckage and he could hear the injured "moaning in agony."

L. D. Milton Heads Howard Trustees Board

Larimer D. Milton, Atlanta, Ga., banker and busin. drug store owner, has been elected chairman of Howard University's board of trustees. It was announced here yesterday by Dr. Mordecai Johnson, university president.

Milton was graduated from Brown University, Providence, R. I., with a bachelor of arts degree and a master's degree in business administration. He holds an honorary doctorate given him by Morris Brown College in Atlanta.

signature and testified that he was acquainted with Hiss.

Chambers is now a senior editor of Time magazine. Hiss, now president of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, is a former high official of the State Department.

While there were no witnesses, police said that evidence indicated Smith leaped from the fifth floor. He had been despondent, they said, and in a highly nervous condition. He had been in the FBI wing of the Justice Department Building shortly after 4 p. m., crashing into the marble floor of a ground entrance hall leading to a court. He was pronounced dead by Deputy Coroner Richard M. Rosenberg.

According to Ralph Akin, 1010 Spring rd. n.w., a messenger who worked under Smith's supervision, the attorney had paced "up and down" the hall outside his fifth floor office all afternoon. He seemed to be "staring down the hall," Akin said.

On two different occasions, Akin related, he watched Smith enter the nearby elevator and stair balcony from which he later plunged. He saw Smith "staring down the hall" and "peering down it."

Just as Smith's body struck the marble floor, Mrs. Dorothy Holloman and Miss Mae King, both elevator operators, opened their elevator doors simultaneously to see him hit the floor "with a loud noise."

Miss King immediately notified her supervisor, she said, who in turn notified police.

According to Solicitor General Perlman, Smith "had seemed despondent" recently. The Solicitor General told reporters the attorney "had been keeping all the statistics" in his office and aided in preparing its annual report.

Smith had argued "a number" of cases before the Supreme Court, Perlman said, mostly of the criminal type, in which he was a specialist.

Police investigation disclosed that the attorney's office was littered with cigarette butts and matches.

A native Washingtonian, Smith began work for the Department of Justice in January, 1917, as a stenographer. In 1919 he was made an assistant attorney.

Smith was graduated from Georgetown University Law School in 1914 and the following year took a master's degree in law. He had also studied accounting at the university.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Inez D. Smith; a daughter, Mrs. Doris Leonard; both of the Chevy Chase address, and another daughter, Miss Jeanne Smith of Washington.

According to friends at the house, the Smiths had lived in Chevy Chase about 13 years. Mrs. Smith was prostrated by the news of her husband's death, they said, and Mrs. Leonard was too grief-stricken to talk.

Urban Montgomery Countians Renew 'Independence' Move

A slumbering movement to divorce heavily populated Silver Spring and Bethesda from rural Montgomery County was stirred yesterday as the result of the county's "home rule" charter dispute.

In announcing strong opposition to the proposed charter, which will be voted on November 2, County Commissioner Wesley I. Sauter suggested the 100,000 residents of urban Montgomery County incorporate as residents of a free city similar to Baltimore.

At present a majority of representation on the county commission is from rural areas, nor would this be cured under the charter, he declared.

The two at-large charter council members proposed to offset the unequal representation could possibly become "political stooges" of the major political parties, he charged.

Court Rights To Be Argued

sion by Chief Justice John Marshall, in 1803, when he held that the Judiciary Act of 1789 did not confer on District residents the same rights of States' citizens to sue or be sued in Federal Courts. Opponents of the 1940 law say the District's only legal recourse is a constitutional amendment.

Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, in the Justice Department's brief, holds that Marshall was merely interpreting the case then before him, but even if he were going further than that "the question . . . is certainly not foreclosed" by his decision.

Perlman noted that Marshall's decision on District citizens' rights stated "this is a subject for legislative, not for judicial consideration." Said the Justice Department, "The 1940 Act . . . was a belated response to Chief Justice Marshall's suggestion."

The department, and the insurance company, say the "state" has been construed to include the District in somewhat similar legal issues. This is challenged by the transfer company's attorneys.

"It was not by mere accident," said the transfer company in its brief, that the Constitution limited the District to "not exceeding 10 miles square . . . It is, therefore, obvious, that the framers of the Constitution intended that the power of Congress with respect to the District was to be limited to the actual geographical boundaries of that District."

Said the insurance company: ". . . today the District of Columbia has the vital characteristics of a State . . . There is no reason to suppose that a citizen of the District of Columbia would be less apprehensive in the local courts of Mississippi than would a citizen of New York."

Korea And Germany

THE ANNOUNCEMENT from Moscow that Soviet troops have started to evacuate North Korea, leaving behind a Communist-controlled "people's republic" and a conscript militia, may well afford a preview of things to come in Germany. The latest intelligence from Berlin supports this idea with reports of a police force, of purges, and of LIPPMANN a forthcoming draft constitution in the Russian zone to prepare the ground for a proposal to withdraw the armies of occupation. Mr. Drew Middleton of the New York Times goes on to say that in the opinion of American officials in Berlin "a Russian withdrawal, announced by the Russians as an international move, would be an important Russian weapon in the battle for Germany. For the freeing of Germany from the occupation armies is a dream entertained by almost all German politicians. Most of them view it as a prerequisite of true German unity and a rebirth of the German state."

THERE IS little doubt that if the Russians actually begin to withdraw their army, as in North Korea, or if they come forward with a proposal that all the armies withdraw, Mr. Marshall and Mr. Bevin could be caught off balance and seriously embarrassed.

The question, perhaps the weightiest in its immediate difficulties and its long consequences, is whether Mr. Marshall and Mr. Bevin are prepared to deal with a Russian initiative of this kind.

It could be the decisive event in the so-called cold war for political influence upon the destiny of Europe. For the side which first proposes a military withdrawal will have gained an immediate political advantage, not only in Germany, but in eastern Europe, and in most other countries, over the side which refuses to withdraw and has been maneuvering into arguing that military occupation should continue.

THE MAIN consideration which has prevented us from seizing the initiative, of making ourselves the champions of the liberation of Europe from the Russian armies, is the knowledge that if and when the Russian armies go, they will leave behind them, as in Korea, a Communist puppet government with the apparatus of secret police and native Communist military forces.

This is in truth the problem to which an answer must be found. In considering it we must, however, remember that an answer will have to be found if Moscow proposes the withdrawal. We cannot count much longer, as we have for over a year, on avoiding this difficult problem by not making the proposal ourselves. If we proposed withdrawal, we should, of course, need to have the answer. But if the Russians propose it, we shall also need to have the answer. Therefore, the difficulty of answering it is not a sufficient reason, is indeed no reason at all, for renouncing the initiative, and all the moral and political advantages that will go to the side which first proposes the end of military occupation, and of the dreadful danger of war rising from the fact that non-European armies confront each other in the heart of Europe.

THERE IS a crucial difference between Korea and Germany which, I venture to suggest, may at least show us where to look for the answer to the question: what happens in western Germany if all the occupation forces retire, leaving eastern Germany under Communist control with German Communist military forces? Korea has never in this century had an army. If North Korea has an army now, it had to be trained by the Russians. If Southern Korea has no army, it is because we have not trained an army.

But the situation in Germany is radically different. Virtually the whole adult male population of Germany has had military training. Millions of the Germans are veterans, and there is no dearth of German officers. Therefore, if there are German military forces in the Russian zone, it is not because the Russians have, as in Northern Korea, organized them. It is because they have authorized them. In the western zones, unlike Southern Korea, the Germans are demilitarized because we insist on it, not because there is a vacuum of military force. We could easily fill that vacuum by authorizing the Germans to fill it.

THE REAL problem in Germany is, therefore, what German military force is to be authorized. There is no doubt that from the 45 million Germans of the west a larger force can arise than from the much smaller eastern zone. Consequently, the west is in a very good position to negotiate with the Russians on the crucial question of the size, the composition, the political control of a German police, militia, and constabulary.

It is not true that a proposal to withdraw the occupying armies would leave us with a situation like that in Korea: with organized power in the former Soviet zone and a military vacuum in our zone. The vacuum in our German zones would be filled rapidly, perhaps instantly, by the German veterans and their officers.

THE FACT that it would probably be filled, if not with Nazis, certainly with German nationalists, would be a most compelling reason, both for the Russians and for ourselves, to negotiate an agreement which regulates German military recovery, and provides guarantees against the revival of German aggression.

Washington Calling

Democratic Hopes Revived

WITH some objective evidence to support their claim, Democratic strategists believe that a trend has set in away from Candidate Dewey and in the direction of Candidate Truman. If the campaign could go on until Thanksgiving, the realists quickly add, the President would have a chance.

Quite apart from public boasts made for political reasons, these same realists are confident that the Democrats will capture control of the Senate. They list Democrats in Wyoming, Oklahoma, Minnesota and West Virginia as sure to defeat Republican incumbents, with Iowa as a strong possibility for a similar upset.

If the four victories come through, and no Democratic seats are lost, the Democrats would control by a majority of 49 to 47. Several Democratic Senators are in close contests.

A Dewey landslide in popular votes looks a lot less likely than it did a month ago. On the other hand, the Republican majority in the electoral college still promises to be top-heavy. Democratic advisers can cite some fairly substantial reasons for the change in trend that they see. One is the deep impression that President Truman appears to have made in the course of his recent swing through the Midwest on the large crowds that came out to hear him. The force of the Truman attack on the Republican Congress and the Republican Party seems to be getting through.

ALONG WITH this goes a natural human sympathy for a fighter who is struggling so hard to come up from the bottom. Truman, in the popular imagination, is assuming the role of David, hurling his stone at the Republican giant of wealth, power and efficiency.

The President is making his fight almost alone. Virtually the only Cabinet officer giving him any effective support is Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, who was appointed after the Democratic Convention at Philadelphia. Tobin is speaking around the country up to the limit of his endurance and there are far more demands than he can fill. Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan has filled a few engagements.

That is just about the score. Some of the men who have been most eager to take the presidential ride, rising out of dim-

Programs Set Up

Playground Children to Learn of U. N.

Washington children are learning what the term United Nations means.

At playgrounds and recreation centers throughout the city this week, youngsters are singing U. N. songs, holding U. N. doll shows and parades, participating in U. N. quizzes, and round-table discussions.

These activities are part of the program scheduled by the District Recreation Board in honor of United Nations Day next Sunday. At Gallinger Playground, 220 and F sts. n.w., for example, each child has selected an "adopted country," and is collecting data to show its characteristics.

Other activities:

Episcopalians In 6 Meetings

A series of six regional conference dinners for clergy and vestrymen in the 90 congregations of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington will begin today and continue through November 1.

The diocese covers the District and parts of southern Maryland. The annual meetings enable vestrymen to meet informally with Bishop Angus Dun to discuss church work. The Rev. J. Brooke Mosley, director of the diocesan Department of Social Relations, and the Rev. L. B. Greaves, chairman of the Department of Promotion, will attend the conferences with the bishop.

The first of the dinners is tonight at the Parish Hall in Waldorf, Md., and will be attended by representatives of all Episcopal churches in Charles and St. Marys Counties.

Other dinners scheduled are: October 22, Epiphany Church, Forestville, Prince Georges County churches; October 25, St. Stephen and Incarnation, northwest Washington churches; October 28, St. Mark's Church, northeast, southeast and southwest Washington churches; October 29, St. John's Church, Mount Rainier, northern Prince Georges County churches; November 1, St. John's Church, Bethesda, for Montgomery County churches.

Big Time Now on Izu, Pinching Women's Hips

Tokyo, Oct. 20 (AP).—Natives of Izu Peninsula, 100 miles south of here, opened a three-day festival today during which "local men are allowed to pinch the hips of women without punishment," Japanese press reports said.

"This is a traditional local custom," explained one English-language publication.

Race Bar Fight

Urged Before College Heads

A continued legal fight against race segregation in State-owned schools was urged here yesterday by two Negro attorneys, addressing a conference of Negro land-grant college presidents.

The conference, with 20 college heads from 17 States in attendance, was being held at the Federal Security Building, 4th st. and Independence ave. sw.

"No reason for segregation exists except hostility to Negroes," James M. Nabrit, attorney and secretary of Howard University, told the educators.

He branded segregated public schools "a denial of equal justice," "discriminatory," and actually "unconstitutional under the Fourteenth Amendment," but he added: "The Supreme Court has not yet adopted the view that segregation is unconstitutional, and we are stuck with the doctrine until the court strikes it down."

He and Herbert O. Reid, Howard University law instructor, recommended that Negroes take this action:

1. Apply for an injunction to restrain the Federal Security Administration from certifying Federal payments for land-grant colleges to States that fail to distribute Federal funds fairly between Negroes and whites.
2. Take similar action where a State fairly distributes Federal funds but decreases its own proportionate aid to Negro institutions.
3. Ask Congress to require States in which separate schools for Negroes are maintained to contribute proportionately equal amounts from State funds to the Negro schools.
4. At the State level, seek an injunction or writ of mandamus requiring State officials to distribute State funds fairly.
5. Bring damage action as individual Negro citizens.
6. Sue to gain admission to white land-grant schools on the ground that the Negro school fails to provide the equal benefits of the law as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment.

The conference will continue today. Meeting simultaneously with the college presidents was a conference of agriculture directors in Negro land-grant colleges. The agriculture directors were studying means of improving instruction and farm methods.

U. of Md. Newspaper Charges

Student Bazedrine Addiction

Charges that an estimated three per cent of University of Maryland students are getting kicks out of something besides their football team have drawn a sharp warning from their health director.

The use of bazedrine—the stimulating drug that comes in inhalers for bad colds—for "a sure A in exams" is increasing at Maryland, according to the campus newspaper, the Diamondback. Some students use the drug to keep awake while cramming for examinations.

The article said "an investigation would probably reveal that one to three per cent of the students take 'benny' regularly and a much larger percentage have tried it at one time or another."

Dr. Harry A. Bishop, director of the University Health Center, promptly flashed a danger signal in the current issue of the Diamondback.

He listed 11 possible harmful effects of the drug, ranging from "auditory hallucinations" to death. The student paper, which also cited the sometimes disastrous consequences of taking bazedrine, maintained that some colleagues do it for the thrill.

Source of the drug is inhaler tubes sold at any drug store. Inside are eight strips of saturated paper, which are taken out and "either chewed or placed in coffee, beer or water," the Diamondback explained.

Dr. Bishop pointed to exhaustive surveys taken at prisons and Army installations where indulgence was known. He said he replied to the article because it "failed sufficiently to point out the many harmful possibilities in the drug, habituation being not the least."

Its use, he quoted the Council on New and Nonofficial Remedies in 1940 as saying, "is not recommended . . . as a pick-me-up in individuals other than those under strict supervision of the physician."

Athens Denies Red Assertion Non-Communist Killed Polk

Athens, Oct. 20 (AP).—Constantine Rentsis, minister of public order, today denied assertions by the Communist "Free Greece movement" that George Polk, the American broadcaster, was murdered by non-Communists.

Polk was slain in the Salonika area last May 8. Mitilades Porphyrogenis, justice minister in the Markos Vafades regime, asserted in Prague yesterday the killers were not Communists, as the Athens government charged Sunday.

Rentsis said if agents of the Greek, Americans or British had killed Polk, then Gregory Staktopoulos would not have been held for trial. He said had anti-Communists plotted the murder, they would have followed Communist tactics and "bumped off" Staktopoulos, a leftist acquaintance of Polk.

The minister said facts disclosed so far in the case came from Staktopoulos' confessions. He said all data has not been obtained and it is up to court investigators to supply missing parts.

Divorced Husband Sues Over Unborn Child

Chicago, Oct. 20 (AP).—A divorced husband sued in Circuit Court today to determine his rights as father of an unborn child.

Lawrence C. Rubenstein, 35, a restaurant manager, filed the suit against his former wife, Mrs. Patricia Collins Rubenstein, 21, whom he divorced in July on a charge of cruelty.

Rubenstein's suit charges his former wife kept the knowledge of the expected birth from him.

Taking Pictures

Farm and Fall Provide Some Fine Shots

By Ollie Atkins

SNAPPY fall air and the county fair spirit is apt to draw a good many of us city slicker camera lads into the farm lands and a better place to go with your camera is hard to name.

Weather-beaten farm buildings, live stock and the general rural atmosphere of large pumpkins in the field and piles of golden corn heaped by the corn stacks are picture subjects and backgrounds no studio can duplicate.

So find that heavy jacket and load its pockets up with film and take off for the wide open spaces. But before wandering all over Farmer Brown's fields and climbing over his fences, drop by the house and shake hands with the old boy and ask his okay to make a few pictures.

Compliment him on his picturesque place and inquire how the herd is doing. If you find him and the family sitting in the field husking corn apologize for not having your overalls on so you could try your hand snapping the husks off. Don't promise to send any prints unless you will.

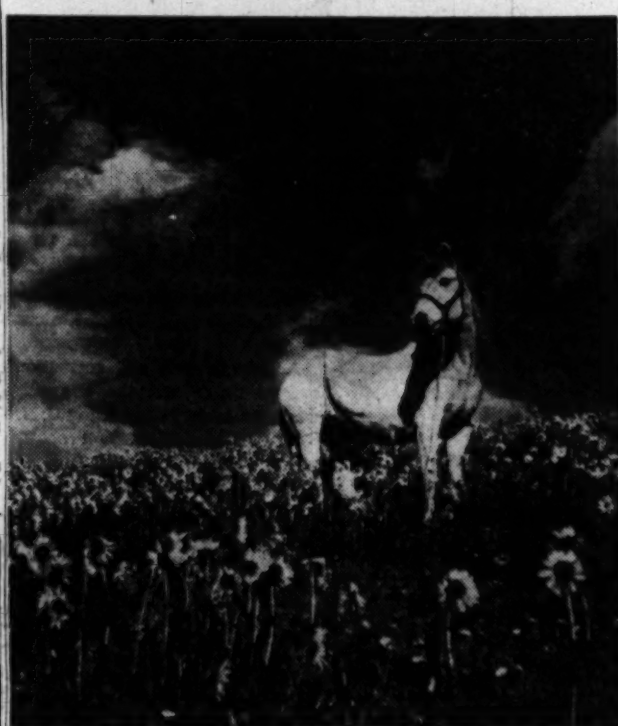

To make pictures around a farm

you will need a lot of patience. Cows are obstinate cusses if you holler at them and expect the animals to stay in one spot while you set up a tripod. Don't move fast or drop your flash gun reflector on the ground around the animals. Most animals are frightened by flash bulbs too.

Light colored animals will show up best with dark backgrounds and filtered skies. Make plenty of close-ups as well as over-all views for variety.

When making animal close-ups remember to keep the animals'

Nice and Natural...

NOTHING FANCY NEEDED—No fancy camera equipment is necessary to get a pretty farm picture like this one made with a yellow (K-2) filter to darken the sky and show up the clouds. The daisy season is out now but plenty of other decor is available. With fast pan film your average exposure these sunny fall afternoons on general views such as this will be around 1/100th second at F/11 with your yellow filter over the lens.

Regular color session of the National Photographic Society will be at 8 o'clock tonight in the National Museum.

A new flash unit known as the Graflex is announced by Graflex, Inc. It consists of either a two or three-cell battery case with single-cell extension units which may be built up to accommodate any reasonable number of batteries. It is of light-weight aluminum with shock-proof plastic fittings. It will accept standard household plugs at five outlets on the battery case.

Judges will examine photographs made by members of the Allied Photographers Association October 27 to select "Miss Lens Queen" at a session at the Club Cimmarron. DeWitt Keith, Jr., secretary, announces.

Kodak announces that the prewar Kodak Retina I and Retina II are again available in limited quantities. Deliveries to dealers will begin shortly.

Christmas card promoting is getting an early start this year. A New York firm in the color photo finishing business is already taking orders from its dealers throughout the country for color print cards. Both 35mm and 120-620 film in the 2X and 2R print sizes range from 50 cents each down to 35 cents in quantities. They are all delivered complete in attractive Christmas card mounts with matching envelopes.

If you are one of the many photographers always giving prints to your friends you might be wise to drop by Ford Photo, where they have an unusual sale of mounts in a house-cleaning sale. I looked them over this week and some of them would be swell to mount prints in for give-aways.

Upper Marlboro Girl Wins Crown as Queen

Combination of warmer weather and a pageant is expected to boost the attendance record at the Southern Maryland Fair at Upper Marlboro, Md., today.

Miss Eleanor M. Morrow, a seventh-grade pupil at Upper Marlboro, will be crowned queen of the fair at 2 p. m. today by United States Assistant Attorney General Lamar Caudle, who will be introduced by Representative Lansdale G. Sasser of Upper Marlboro.

Following the coronation, a pageant will be presented by 100 children of the Upper Marlboro schools depicting the history of Maryland from the granting of the charter through World War II.

Attendance jumped yesterday as the principal judging activities were under way. Children were thrilled by the Fairy Tale exhibits of county women's clubs in the Household Arts Building. First prize in this class was won by Landover Community Club, with a dazzling display based on the "12 Dancing Princesses."

Second place went to the Woman's Club of Greenbelt for a display depicting Hansel and Gretel discovering the gingerbread house, and third place to University Park Women's Club, for the Show Queen.

First prize in the garden club display went to the Town and Country Garden Club of Washington and Upper Marlboro with a fairy tale garden; second prize to Riverside Heights Garden Club, for the Garden of the Three Beams; and third place to Forest Garden Club for a display "patterned after a box garden at Versailles."

Winners in the show judging yesterday were: Dances—John W. Wright of Fountaine, Md.; Banquets—D. R. Sasser, Mount Airy, Md.; Best winners were: Banquets—C. R. Calbreath, Street, Md.; Spotted Poland China—R. H. and E. W. Mumford, Mount Airy, Md.; Plain Poland China—Paul F. Little, Silver Spring, Md.; Banquets—Dr. Samuel H. Hooper, Baltimore; Cider white—United Point Farms, Arnold, Md.; Duro Jersey—George Lechman, Gaithersburg.

Landlords Sue D. C. On Apartment Fees

Landis in Group
191 Lawyers
Admitted to Court Here

In District Court ceremonies yesterday to void the license rates charged for operation of apartment houses in Washington.

The action was instituted by Greenway, Inc., and Upland Terrace, Inc., operators of 89 apartment houses in Southeast Washington. The District government is the defendant.

According to the suit, the rate scale now used is illegal. Under it, the action indicated, the plaintiffs must pay at least $15 a year for each of their apartment houses, which are primarily of the two-story type.

Greenway and Upland state that they have been denied licenses to operate, and have been threatened with prosecution for failure to pay the license fees.

The District Commissioners were commanded by Congress to set a rate scale after study to make the license fees charged commensurate with the inspection costs in each case. It was contended. This was not done, and an arbitrary scale is being used, the suit avers.

The operators ask the court to declare the rate scale null and void, force the city to issue a license, and to enjoin the District government from any prosecution under the rate scale now in existence.

Production Soon On Flying Wing

France Opposes Halt in Plant Dismantling

Paris, Oct. 20 (AP)—France wants the dismantling of German war plants to continue, the Foreign Office said tonight.

This position is contrary to an American desire to call at least a temporary halt in dismantling.

It was learned from American sources the French government had presented United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery a note on this subject today.

The French said they were willing only to reconsider "certain industrial installations" not yet formally marked for reparations.

Dispatches from London, October 13, quoted diplomatic sources as saying Paul G. Hoffman, United States administrator of the European Recovery Program, had won British-French assent to a moratorium on removal of important industrial plants from Germany.

Ultrafax to Make Its Bow Here Today

By N. S. Haseltine

Ultrafax, hailed as the newest and fastest method of sending the printed or illustrated message, will have its world premiere today at the United States Library of Congress.

The technique, most readily described as televised photography, will show its speed—described as a million words a minute—to specially invited Cabinet members, Federal Communication Commission officials, newspaper publishers, military leaders, and technicians down the line.

Another showing, also by invitation, will include Government officials and industrial leaders. Scene of the demonstration will be the Library's Coolidge Auditorium, on the same Capitol Hill where one Samuel F. B. Morse, on May 24, 1844, tapped out the now historic query, "What hath God wrought?" to announce telegraphy to the world.

For demonstration purposes, today's messages to the Library of Congress will be beamed from the Wardman Park Hotel, National Broadcasting Co.'s television outlet here.

In practice tests this week engineers scheduled such feats as running off more than 1000 book pages in a minute and a half.

The postwar development of Radio Corp. of America, Ultrafax essentially photographs with high-speed cameras televised images on the receiving screen. Then, by another high-speed photographic process, develops and prints those films in a few seconds.

The method of transmitting the messages is virtually optional. Pages can be moved one at a time before a "flying spot" television-type scanner which flashes them at the speed of light (186,000 miles a second) to the television receiver screen, or they can be run through automatically at the speed of present-day printing presses, it was said.

A more favored method, however, is to process the message, picture or other material into microfilm, which is then scanned by the television "flying spot" at the rate of about 15 book pages to a second.

Developers of the new system say it will relegate its still new forerunner, facsimile transmission, to a pony express category by comparison.

Force Policy Gain Deplored

American armed and industrial strength is the surest safeguard against war, but our foreign policy is being dominated too much by the military viewpoint, Sumner Welles, former Undersecretary of State, declared last night.

The occasion of his speech was a banquet at the Hotel Washington marking the inauguration of Washington's new frequency modulation radio station WCFM.

Welles said it was of utmost importance for the American public to understand our foreign policy instead of knowing only that it exists.

"A dangerous psychology is being created in which our Government is thinking primarily of force as the only effective instrument of policy, and in which the average citizen is rapidly ceasing to think of our foreign relations except in terms of war," he declared.

He described Station WCFM as a great factor in enabling the American people to secure the truth that will keep them free.

Other speakers at the banquet were Thurman Arnold, former judge of the United States Court of Appeals; Marquis Childs, newspaper columnist, and Mrs. Raymond Clapper, author and wife of the late columnist.

The station, which is listener owned on a cooperative, nonprofit basis, has studios at 1120 Connecticut ave. n.w. The transmitter is in West Falls Church, Va.

Fairfax Asks Sanitation Aid

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors yesterday agreed to seek aid from the Virginia State Water Control Board in solving a sanitation problem in thickly settled Groveton, which has no sewer system.

A delegation of Groveton residents told the board that septic tanks were overflowing in the community and renewed a plea made more than a year ago for establishment of a sub-sanitary district in their community within Sanitary District No. 1.

The board voted to ask the State board to visit the area to study the problem.

The board also: Heard Lewis Travis, farmer from Chantilly, urge legislation allowing counties to do away with property taxes and substitute income taxes.

Doctor Advocates Youthful Marriages

Los Angeles, Oct. 20 (AP)—Parents should subsidize their children so they can marry young to save wives from an unnatural delay in bearing offspring, a Boston doctor today told the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Joe Vincent Meigs of Harvard Medical School said women should begin bearing children before they are 24 years old or they may not be able to have them.

"In fact," he said, "it is natural for women to begin bearing children before they reach the age of 20, and an unnatural delay can be harmful."

"Certain natural hormones, if interrupted by childbearing, may cause the growth of a tumor in the pelvis which makes conception impossible," he said.

The tumor, called endometriosis, can be removed by surgery, but only 9 to 29 per cent of the women who undergo such an operation are able to bear children afterward, he pointed out.

Technion Group to Meet

Blind Veterans Charge Exclusion From N. Y. Cafe

New York, Oct. 20 (NYHT)—Ten blind war veterans and their dogs appeared in court this morning to protest against the alleged exclusion of one of their number, Simon Girbush and his dog, Rusty, from the main dining room of Ruby Foo's Restaurant here on October 9.

Magistrate Charles T. Murphy said: "This is not a pretty picture." He ordered a full complaint drawn up against William Gwon, headwaiter and stockholder of Ruby Foo's Den, Inc., the defendant, and adjourned the case until next Wednesday.

The charge, brought by the New York branch of the Blind Veterans Association, is the first test of a new State law which forbids public places from excluding blind persons accompanied by seeing-eye dogs.

Girbush said the BVA persuaded him to make a test case out of it. Girbush said after he was excluded from Ruby Foo's he went next door where he was "treated royally."

Girbush was accompanied by his wife, his sister and her husband, and his two nieces, aged 12 and 7. Girbush said Gwon told them they could eat in the cocktail lounge. He did not think the cocktail lounge was a fit place for children.

Sol S. Goldman, attorney for the restaurant, said patrons are often asked to eat in the cocktail lounge when the dining room is crowded.

"We have not yet invented a way to put a party of six, with a dog, into a place vacated by two persons," he said.

The 1948 platform of the Democratic Party states: "We approve the claims of the State of Israel to the boundaries set forth in the United Nations Resolution of November 29 and consider that modification thereof should be made only if fully acceptable to the State of Israel."

There was every reason to believe that this declaration—and our Government's leadership in bringing about the United Nations partition decision of November 29, 1947—represented American policy on Israel. Nevertheless, Secretary of State Marshall has urged acceptance "in their entirety" of the unjust territorial changes proposed in the Bernadotte report. No justification of this sudden and unwarranted reversal of policy has been offered by the Administration.

A glance at the last of these maps, depicting Israel's size under the proposed Bernadotte plan, makes it obvious that this pitifully small territory cannot absorb the hundreds of thousands of Jewish refugees who must emigrate there; nor can it provide for Israel's normal growth and development.

Is this what you had in mind, Mr. President?

If this is not what you had in mind, we respectfully submit that you should say so now, since the Bernadotte proposals are at this very moment under discussion by the United Nations General Assembly and its decision will be largely determined by the attitude of the American Government.

Which is it, Mr. President? The policy which you have stated in the past, which determined our Government's stand in November, 1947, and which is also the declared policy of your party—or the policy most recently expressed by Mr. Marshall, which is in violent contradiction to it?

We respectfully await your answer.

County to Restore 10% Welfare Cut

Restoration of a 10-per-cent cut which has been in effect in Prince Georges County (Md.) Welfare Board allotments for relief is planned, it was announced yesterday.

Welfare Board clients receive assistance according to a State-wide budget of minimum needs for housing, food, clothing and household maintenance. In May, 1947, when it became evident that the board could not meet its payroll on the basis of these budgets because of lack of funds, a 10-per-cent reduction in allotments was ordered.

Effective October 1, the board will use higher budgets for food and household maintenance, and it is estimated the over-all effect will be restoration of the 10-per-cent cut. This is made possible by the granting of additional Federal funds to the State by an act of Congress last July.

New budgets will be put into effect, by client, as workers are able to see them to reconsider their need for assistance. The increase will be given only where the requirement is apparent, and where the client is unable to achieve maintenance through his own resources.

Two Men Accused Of Unauthorized Junkie in Bus

Two men were arrested in Alexandria yesterday, charged with the unauthorized use of a $17,000 sightseeing bus.

They were identified as Robert H. Hammill, Jr., 23, Scott Field, Ill., and Jack R. Neal, 22, 544 N. Piedmont st., Arlington. Hammill was held, and Neal was released in $500 bond for appearance in Alexandria Police Court today.

D. C. Board Today Gets Program for Tubercular Care

District needs for adequate care of its now known tuberculars will be presented today to the District Commissioners, the aftermath to this year's mass survey to uncover tuberculars.

The long-expected proposals are to be presented at the District Building by William E. Leahy, lawyer, who served as chairman of the survey's executive committee. They represent recommendations made by the survey's medical technical committee, headed by Dr. A. C. Christie, which completed its special study of survey results on Tuesday.

Dr. Christie, radiologist, said the recommendations represent an "exceedingly important" phase of the mass chest X-ray survey which indicated the presence of tuberculars in some 8000 of the area's 500,000 adults examined. The committee report, Leahy said, is the beginning of a concentrated drive to correct serious deficiencies existing here in the care and treatment of persons infected with tuberculosis. These include shortages in doctors, nurses, and hospital beds needed to care for the patients, he said.

With Shirley Porich

THE GLOVES JOE LOUIS said he was hanging up last June 25 when he stepped to the microphone in Yankee Stadium and announced "This is for my mother—I've fought my last fight," are coming off the hook. There's too much gold in them thar mittens.

POVICH

Louis' announcement that he'll fight somebody for the title next June in a Mike Jacobs promotion isn't quite flabbergasting. The Louis-Jacobs relationship has always been a close one, dating from 1935 when Jacobs dethroned Louis and his managers, John Roxborough and Julian Black, by offering to give a Negro a shot at the world's heavyweight title.

Louis was campaigning around Detroit and Chicago in those days and compiling a string of knockouts but like every Negro fighter was apparently the victim of the color-line barrier to a heavyweight title fight. Not since Jack Johnson lost to Jess Willard at Havana in 1915, had a Negro fought for the title. Jacobs flew into Detroit to watch Louis fight and was smitten with him.

He told Louis and his managers there would be a title shot if Joe kept winning. "Finish every fight as fast as you can, if you can," Jacobs said. Just because Louis was a colored heavyweight he wasn't expected to wear any handcuffs or "carry" white opponents.

IT WAS THE FIRST time since Johnson that a colored fighter was getting the green light from a promoter of heavyweight championships and the first reaction of Louis and his managers was an incredulous "Who, us?" But Louis made good and then Jacobs made good, bringing him into New York to fight and stop Primo Carnera and a year later setting up the Jimmy Braddock bout that gave Louis the title.

Louis fought all of his 25 title defenses for Jacobs. Even the bum-of-the-month tour when Louis was putting his title on the line was under Jacobs' auspices. If he didn't promote those fights directly, it was in partnership with the local promoters. Both Louis and Jacobs made millions out of their partnership, but when Louis announced his retirement last June, Jacobs' monopoly on the heavyweight title was threatened.

Louis' comeback is saving the situation for Jacobs, who lost control of the middleweight title to Jersey's Tournament of Champions promoters. Louis is doing Jacobs a distinct favor by fighting at least one more bout for Mike, who now is in a position to tie up the challenger, whoever he may be, to fight under Jacobs' auspices as a consideration for getting the title shot.

AT THAT, THE decision to return to the ring wasn't hard for Louis. It was easier than turning his back on a title which is negotiable for at least another million dollars. He can make more money in one night fighting a second-rate challenger than he can take from a six-month tour refereeing or fighting exhibitions, and his comeback meant even more to Jacobs.

It was well-timed to aid the Jacobs' interests. Mike is promoting the Joe Baksi-Ezzard Charles fight in the Garden on December 10, and Louis' announcement that he will fight the winner, "if the winner looks good," lends stature to the December 10 contest. Instead of being just another heavyweight fight, it becomes a pre-title affair with Louis' endorsement to stimulate the gate.

And Louis couldn't have picked a better time to announce his comeback. At 35, he isn't the same old Louis, and he was on the floor three times against Jersey Joe Walcott in his last two title defenses, but he's returning to the ring at a time when he isn't jeopardizing his title to a younger fighter like Baksi, Charles and Joe Savold he can still take in stride.

IF THERE WAS an impressive young heavyweight around to do battle with Louis, his friends would greet his comeback decision with "Say it ain't so, Joe." The 35-year-old Louis is no longer a destroyer. He's too big, too slow-moving and too easy a target who relies wholly now on the bombing power of his two fists.

He had too much trouble beating Walcott to expose his title to a good young heavyweight, and he wouldn't be more than 2-to-1 shot to beat Walcott again. But Baksi, like Louis, is slow and never was a top fighter, and Charles now must be labeled as distinctly overrated following his dismal showing in Washington against Jimmy Blinn.

On the day Louis does retire undefeated, though, he won't be bereft of a source of income. He can make the same arrangement with Jacobs that Jimmy Braddock made as a consideration to giving Louis the title shot. Braddock for years cut in for 15 per cent of Louis' purses as champion. Louis is wise about these things, too, and they can't have his title just for the taking.

Pick-The-Winner Lineup This Week

CAN UNBEATEN Cornell beat unbeaten Army? Will Iowa upset Notre Dame? What can Minnesota do against Michigan? Those are some of the questions you football fans will have to answer in the Washington Post's Pick-the-Winners Contest this week.

This is a contest of skill. Your knowledge of the teams will be an important factor. So follow the accounts of the teams each week, study their scores, then make your choices of the winners. The contest will be conducted weekly through November 20.

The winner of each weekly contest will receive two (2) tickets to the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia, November 27, and an all-expenses-paid trip to the big game for two persons.

The person submitting the most accurate entry each week also will receive four (4) tickets to a major college or professional game in this area. This game will be selected by The Washington Post.

The contest each week includes 20 of the major college games. A twenty-first (21st) game is listed on which the "Probable Score" will be given by each contestant.

CONTEST RULES

All entries must be in the hands of the FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR not later than 4 p.m. Friday of each week. Entries should be left at the Service Counter in the lobby of The Washington Post Bldg., 1337 E St. N.W.

The person submitting the most accurate entry each week shall be declared the winner. In case of ties, all persons sharing in the tie will receive duplicate awards.

Gavilan 3-1 Tonight Over Vin Rossano At Uline's

Vinnie Rossano, beaten himself by Kid Gavilan and a witness to Gavilan's 35-second knockout of his brother, Rocco, tries to atone for those two family lickings when he tangles with Gavilan again tonight at Uline Arena.

Gavilan, No. 1 contender for Ray Robinson's welterweight crown, is a 3-1 favorite to retain his championship of the Rossano family.

The bout is billed for 10 rounds. Although the colorful, hard-bitten Gavilan has already whipped him once, tonight's engagement figures to be a rather lively scrap.

Both boys are good punchers. Gavilan, anxious for another crack at Robinson and the 147-pound crown, could clinch a return go with Sugar Ray by belting out Rossano while Vinnie could upset the ambitious plans of Gavilan with a victory tonight.

Gavilan, pound for pound, is one of the best fighters in the business today. He's a Madison Square Garden headliner with a record of 30 decisions, 15 knockouts, 1 draw and 4 losses, all by decisions, in his 50 professional fights.

The Cuban-born Gavilan fought a losing, but good fight against Robinson two months ago. He's a busy fighter who has pleased audiences practically everywhere he's fought.

There's too much at stake for him to blow tonight's fight and he's in no mood for that to happen. The first Rossano-Gavilan affair went the full 10 rounds about 8 months ago with Gavilan the winner by a unanimous, but close, decision.

The supporting show offers two six-rounders, Jackie Ford vs. Cley Slocum and Fosse Safora vs. Cley Simmons, featherweights, and a pair of fours involving Rufus Barry vs. Joe Flood, heavyweights, and Norval Gaddis vs. King David, middleweights.

Larkin, Fusari Fight Tonight in Jersey City

'Jersey City, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Tournament of Champions, newest threat to Mike Jacobs' fight empire, opens an ambitious winter program tomorrow night with a Tippy Larkin-Charles Fusari 10-round scrap at the Jersey City Armory.

Fusari and Larkin, an all-New Jersey affair, is expected to draw around $30,000. The promoters talk of $40,000 and $45,000. It is understood that Larkin is getting a $15,000 guarantee and Fusari 30 per cent of the gate. It's a return match of their February 14, 1947, meeting in Madison Square Garden when Fusari stopped Larkin.

A large crowd paid well over $115,000 to see that bout. (The bout will be televised over WMAL-TV channel 7 at 9:45 p.m.)

Gamecocks Play Clemson

Richmond, Va., Oct. 20 (AP)—The winner of tomorrow's football game at Columbia, S. C., between Clemson's Tigers and South Carolina's Gamecocks will move into a deadlock with North Carolina for first place in the Southern Conference standings.

Clemson, undefeated in three starts this season, will be favored to down the Gamecocks in the Palmetto State Fair classic. South Carolina's only liking in three games to date was a 14-0 loss to Tulane.

The Tigers and the Gamecocks put on the finishing touches in their plans for the game in workouts yesterday. And Clemson Coach Frank Howard and South Carolina Coach Rex Enright moaned over injuries.

Eightight Bill Rutledge, second team fullback, would miss the Clemson tussle along with Pete Lane, place-kicking artist of last year.

Missing from the Clemson lineup will be Ray Clanton, left guard, whose place will be taken by Jud Davis.

'Schnoz' Released

Oakland, Calif., Oct. 20 (AP)—Big Ernle (Schnoz) Lombardi, 40, two-time National League batting champion, apparently reached the end of his playing career today when he got an outright release from the Pacific Coast League champions, the Oakland Athletics.

He Is An Ex-Hoya, Too

THE MAN who quarterbacked George Washington to a 57-0 victory over Maryland 40 years ago will be rooting for Maryland to knock the stuffings out of George Washington Saturday.

He's Dr. Harry Clifton Byrd, president of Maryland University.

In 1907, a year before the Colonials spanked the Terrapins, curly Byrd had a big hand in helping Maryland slip George Washington the works by an 11-0 count.

Byrd was the original man in motion. The perambulating prexy climaxed his fluid collegiate football career by quarterbacking Georgetown in 1909. Then, when his football eligibility was questioned after he had played five years, Byrd took off for Western Maryland College where he captained the track team.

Byrd's gridiron wanderings were linked with those of his coach, Fred K. Nielsen. Nielsen coached Byrd at Maryland Agriculture in 1905 and 1906 and when Byrd turned up at Georgetown in 1908, so did Nielsen.

Byrd, generously referred to as "somewhat of a tramp athlete in his day," by one of his biographers, took a vital interest in the Lu Gambino ineligibility case at Maryland some weeks ago.

As college president, it was proper that he should, since Gambino was the star of his school's team. But Byrd had another reason to help Gambino because Curly himself was the storm center of an ineligibility case 39 years ago.

He was the Georgetown quarterback at that time. Georgetown, playing a six-game schedule then, came up to the finale against Virginia odds-on favorites to win, but the Hoyas came a cropper, losing 21-0, as Byrd watched the game from the stands. The Cavaliers had the audacity to ques-

Post Contest Winner Picks Perfect Card

JOHN B. BURCHAM, JR., BATS 1.000

17-Year-Old Anacostia Boy Has 21 for 21, Predicts 14-0 Score; 5 Others Just Miss

By Herb Heft

A 17-year-old Navy Annex file clerk, who pitched for the Anacostia High School baseball team last spring, is this week's Pick-The-Winner contest champion.

And what a champion he is. John B. Burcham, Jr., 4340 Saint Barnabas rd. se., chalked up the first perfect score in the history of the contest.

He won two tickets to the November 27 Army-Navy football classic, and four to Saturday's George Washington-Maryland game at Griffith Stadium by picking the correct results of 20 major games last Saturday, and the exact score of the North Carolina-North Carolina State tilt.

Young Burcham admitted yesterday that he "just picked North Carolina, 14-0, out of the air," and was surprised when he hit the score right on the nose.

Predicting the exact score was what won the contest for Burcham because five other contestants picked 20 correct results, and also forecast North Carolina as a winner. But they didn't hit the North Carolina score the way John did.

The five who came so close were: Emil L. Rehm, 6115 Third st. nw.; Robert E. Clipp, 314 E. Liberty st., Charles Town, W. Va.; E. Bennett, 1020 19th st. nw.; Capt. J. P. Rush, 4405 Columbia pike, Arlington; and Charles G. Senesney, 1300 S. Taylor st., Arlington.

Burcham's formula for winning was to pick the upsets. "That's the only way to win, because there are always upsets. The secret is to pick them at the right time," he says.

He picked Rutgers over Princeton, Yale over Wisconsin, Vanderbilt over Kentucky and Tennessee over Alabama. That Georgetown-Tulsa game gave him a scare.

"I heard over the radio that Tulsa was leading, 7-0, at the end of the third quarter, and had given up hope. But then I heard about Georgetown scoring those two last quarter touchdowns, and knew I was in," he said.

Burcham has seen only one college football game this season, the Navy-California game. It was no accident that he saw that one. He hopes to gain admittance to the Naval Academy by next September.

He is a graduate of Anacostia High, where he twice was on the honor roll. He has two brothers and two sisters. One of his brothers, Robert, 26, brought John's entry blank into The Washington Post's lobby last Friday afternoon, three hours before the deadline.

Babe, Mary Walls Tie for Medal

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Diddrick Zaharias and Mary Agnes Walls, Menominee, Wis., each earned a 73, two over men's par, to wind up as co-medalists in the qualifying round of the Hardscrabble Country Club Women's Golf Tournament here today.

Patty Berg, Savage, Minn., had a 75, and Peggy Kirk, Findlay, Ohio, shot a 78 on the tough 6440-yard course.

25 Horses Die In Chicago Fire

Chicago, Oct. 20 (AP)—Chicago's second major race track fire in less than three years destroyed 25 thoroughbreds at a Hawthorne Park stable last night.

Loss of the horses, none of prominent reputation, and the stable at suburban Stickney was estimated at $115,000 by Robert P. Carey, the track's managing director. Carey said "nobody has the slightest idea how the fire started."

About 900 other horses in nearby stables were unharmed as the flash blaze was held by firemen to barn 8 in which all the dead animals were stabled.

DR. HARRY C. BYRD AS PLAYER, PREXY tion the eligibility of a player who was only playing his fifth year of football.

Although the protest was later found to be without merit, Georgetown disqualified its star, Curly Byrd. Byrd was still within Southern Conference rules which barred players after four years of competition if they had attended colleges with 150 or more students.

Maryland, which Byrd had attended for three years, had less than 100 students, the remainder being "sub-freshman" or preparatory students. Although the 139-pound Byrd played ball for the Terrapins in 1905, he was a "sub-freshman" at the time.

Andy Davis' Eligibility Questioned But He's OK

By Morris Siegel

For two tremendous hours yesterday, George Washington University sweated out an official screening of the eligibility of Backfield Ace Andy Davis by the Southern Conference, with the Maryland game only three days away.

Late in the day, Davis was given a clean bill by Col. William Couper, conference secretary, who investigated an "anonymous communication" charging Davis was a noneligible transfer student from the University of Maryland.

Colonel Couper emphasized that the "communication" was NOT from Maryland.

Maryland Didn't Protest

The letter charged that Davis enrolled at Maryland in the fall of 1947. Maryland officials yesterday denied that Davis either had enrolled or registered at their school.

If Davis had enrolled at Maryland and transferred to George Washington, he would have been ineligible to play Southern Conference football.

He did not play football in college last year, but enrolled at George Washington in September. Davis played sandlot football in Washington last year. He was discharged from the Army in the summer of '47. He worked out with Maryland for two days in September of '47.

"I made a thorough investigation of the letter," Colonel Couper told The Washington Post, and found that the charges are untrue. Max Farrington (GW's director of men's activities) and Geary Eppley (dean of men at Maryland) were both consulted.

"Maryland told me Davis had not enrolled or registered at Maryland and therefore he is entirely eligible."

Davis Is GW's Offense

"I will not say where the communication came from, but it was NOT from Maryland," Colonel Couper added.

With Davis out, George Washington's slim chance of upsetting the Terrapins Saturday would have been reduced to practically nothing. The 21-year-old ex-McKinley Tech star is fifth in the Nation in total offense with almost 650 yards gained running and passing in four games.

Davis started the season at fullback, was later shifted to tailback and is now alternately in the two positions. In George Washington's 20-12 upset of Virginia, Davis passed for one touchdown and set up the other with long runs.

In GW's other victory, 13-0 over V.P.I., Davis pitched one touchdown pass and set up the second with a run.

Deacons' End Tops Receivers

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—The race for pass-catching honors among collegiate grid stars of the Nation, a wide open affair this season, finds a new man out in front today for the fourth time in as many weeks.

He is Johnny O'Quinn of Wake Forest, who caught five forward passes for 117 yards and one touchdown against Duquesne last Saturday.

That ran his total to 20 catches in four games and sent him to the top of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau's weekly standing where he replaced Tennessee's Jim Powell, who was shut out by Alabama.

Not only does O'Quinn top the Nation in the number of passes caught, the figure on which the NCAA bases the standings in that department, but he also leads in total gains on forwards with 254 yards.

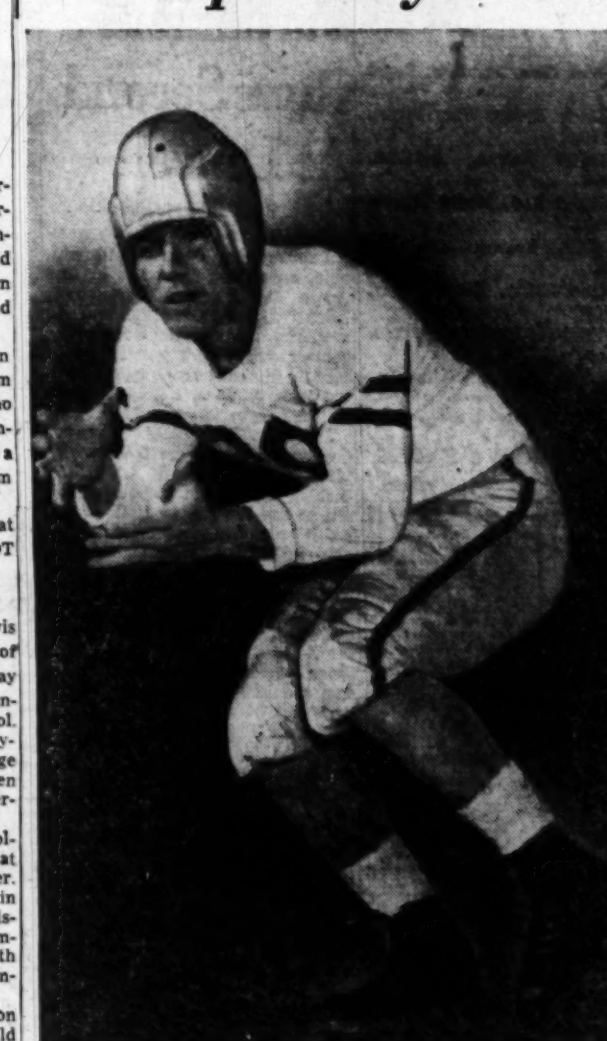

The ten leaders in each department: PASS RECEIVING—O'Quinn, Wake Forest, 20 catches for 117 yards; Powell, Tennessee, 18 for 240; Bentley, Nevada, 18 for 210; Jones, Texas Christian, 18 for 180; Boone, Oregon State, 16 for 170; Horry, Kansas, 15 for 150; Adams, UCLA, 15 for 140; Tula, 15 for 137; Cheek, Davidson, 15 for 123; Smith, Wake Forest, 14 for 170.

PUNTING—Stomback, Purdue, 45.4 yards average; Boston, Montana State, 45.7; Gilley, Virginia Tech, 45.6; Edwards, Illinois, 45.5; Hays, Santa Clara, 45.4; Mitchell, Cornell, 45.2; Mitchell, Virginia, 45.1; Jackson, Yale, 45.1; Heider, Holy Cross, 41.8; McKee, Marquette, 41.8.

PUNT KICKBACKS—Nalley, Vanderbilt, 20 punts returned for 340 yards; Deberry, Villanova, 16 for 271; Sims, Baylor, 9 for 282; Little, Texas Tech, 16 for 253; Pryor, Rutgers, 9 for 238; Mitchell, Oklahoma, 12 for 102; Justice, North Carolina, 11 for 207; Yoncoski, Kansas, 10 for 183; Adams, A. C. U., 18 for 170; Broadus, Colorado, 3 for 7.

KICKOFF KICKBACKS—Greene, Wake Forest, 14 kickoff returns for 311 yards; Freeman, Portland, 12 for 282; Hall, Arizona, 7 for 240; Christy, 6 for 212; Hernandez, Texas Tech, 7 for 216; Gooch, Texas A. & M., 6 for 194; Adams, UCLA, 7 for 200; White, Temple (A.S.U.), 6 for 201; Davis, George Washington, 9 for 192; Miller, Marquette, 7 for 188.

Hoya Rooters High On Soph Billy Conn

CONN READY TO STEP OFF ON QUICK GETAWAY

After Only Three Games, Newark Speedster Even Has Coaches Talking to Themselves

By Jack Walsh

For more than a year Georgetown has been talking about unmaking a great back. It's taken Billy Conn, explosive sophomore, just three games to prove how right the Hoyas were.

In fact, Billy's performance against Tulsa last Saturday was startling even to Conn's most enthusiastic supporters. Billy was too busy making 23 touchdowns in his last year at St. Benedict's of Newark to ever pass the ball. And Georgetown, after two games, thought he ran it pretty well, too.

He's a runner, sure—not a passer. But things got tough at Tulsa and the Hoyas trailed, 7-0, in the fourth period. So Conn, passing for the first time in his life, feinted a run and got off a beautiful diagonal toss that George Benign took over for the tying score. In all, the play carried 43 yards.

Five minutes later he duplicated the feat, this time with a 14-yard touchdown pass to Fran Desmond, another end. And that beat Tulsa. That's the kind of competitor the 20-year-old, 180-pounder is. And that's why those close to him feel he's going to run wild tomorrow night at Griffith Stadium against Fordham.

Jack Hagerly, reserved Georgetown coach, made more than a few eyebrows raise when he said, "Conn's the best back I've had at Georgetown in my 14 years." And the seldom-enthusiastic Mr. Hagerly added, "He could be the greatest back Georgetown ever had."

That's an interesting opinion. Most people tell you Jack Hagerly was the greatest back Georgetown ever had.

Mike Palm, astute backfield tutor for the Hoyas, wouldn't parry a pointed question as to whether Conn is All-American timber. Palm thinks that Billy will make it before he's through at Georgetown.

In addition to his aerial success against Tulsa, Conn gained 80 yards in 18 tries. Against Boston College, he seamed 75 yards for Georgetown's lone touchdown.

At St. Benedict's, Billy was a unanimous selection on the New Jersey All-State eleven. Twenty-odd major colleges sought him.

But persuasive Frank Geiger, Newark advertising man who's a Georgetown alumnus, talked Billy into going to the Hilltop. Geiger, 40-year-old bachelor, scouts athletes for the Hoyas as a hobby. He claims his biggest thrill is in seeing a boy he selects come through for Georgetown. Needless to say, he's very much a Conn-man.

Longwood Prep Plays Stratford

Longwood Prep has added Stratford Military Academy to its football schedule, and will be host to the Stratford (N. J.) school Saturday at Olney, Md.

Five Washingtonians will be playing at Stratford. They are Bob Boyd, tackle; Jim Streiber, center; Hal Whit and Ken Evans, guards; and Tom Kophaus, halfback. Kickoff is at 2 p.m.

2 Hoya Stars Play in Benefit Here Sunday

Two of Georgetown University's all-time basketball greats, Danny Kraus and Johnny Mahnen, return to Washington Sunday night for the Touchdown Club's double-header at Uline Arena.

Both will be in Baltimore Bullets' livery when the Monumental City quintet meets the Philadelphia Warriors in the curtain-raiser at 8 o'clock.

Washington's Capitals tackle the New York Knickerbockers in the nightcap.

The pudgy Kraus and lanky Mahnen played together on Georgetown's last prewar team. Danny later played at Notre Dame and then returned to Georgetown, graduating this spring.

The Caps have their reliable Capt. Bob Feerick, who has a 16.5 average for 103 games.

Okla. Racial Law May Bench 2 Nevada Stars

Reno, Nev., Oct. 20 (AP)—The color issue threatened today to bench two top University of Nevada backfield aces in the Tulsa game on Saturday. The players are Sherman Howard, fullback, and Alva Tabor, quarterback.

Coach Joe Sheeketski said that Tulsa University athletic officials had reminded Nevada of an Oklahoma State law forbidding colored players to appear on athletic fields against white players.

Undefeated 'Big 4' Face No Trouble

By Steve Snider

United Press Sports Writer

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—Four sectional leaders—Army, Michigan, North Carolina and California—figured today to hold their envied positions this weekend among the Nation's 59 unbeaten, untied football teams.

In the East, it's Army over unbeaten Cornell in perhaps the most rugged test of the season for the rump-roaring Cadets. Their only common opponent to date was Harvard, crushed by Cornell, 40 to 6 and beaten by Army, 20 to 6, but Army has an almost endless supply of reserves and will be at full strength for this one. Cornell's defense doesn't stock up as well as Army's.

Michigan, hot favorite in the Big Nine after walloping Northwestern, 28 to 0, has the speed to outmaneuver Minnesota's giant line and a dangerous passer in Charley Ortman to finish the job.

Tar Heels Too Much
North Carolina's attack, powered by Charley Justice and Hosea Rodgers, should hit the jackpot against a Louisiana State defense which has given up an average of 20 points in four games. California's crashing Bears outman twice-beaten, once-tied Washington.

Elsewhere around the Nation:

EAST
Vanderbilt over Yale—Vandy is on the way back.

Penn State over Michigan State—Home field the only advantage. Harvard over Dartmouth—Harvard is better than its likings show.

Also: Columbia over Princeton, Indiana over Pittsburgh, Rutgers over Lehigh, Pennsylvania over Navy, Holy Cross over Colgate, Lafayette over Bucknell, Brown over Connecticut, Georgetown over Fordham, Boston U. over New York U.

MIDWEST
Notre Dame over Iowa—Much too much.

Ohio State over Wisconsin—Psychology, but not personnel, favors Wisconsin.

Missouri over Iowa State—Big Seven debut for a great team.

Also: Purdue over Illinois, Northwestern over Syracuse, Kentucky over Marquette, Detroit over Wayne, Colorado over Kansas State, Kansas over Nebraska.

PAC WEST
Oregon over Washington State.

Southern California over Stanford—Figures tough.

Oregon State over UCLA.

Also: Idaho over Montana State and in the Rockies it's Utah over Wyoming.

Utah State over Brigham Young, St. Mary's over Denver, Washington University over Colorado College, Colorado A. and M. over Drake, Omaha over Colorado State.

SOUTH
Georgia Tech over Florida—Same conference but outclassed.

Mississippi State over Alabama—An edge in power.

Tulane over Auburn—Right in the line.

Also: Mississippi over Boston College, Tennessee over Tennessee Tech, Georgia over Miami, Clemson over South Carolina, Duke over Virginia Tech, Furman over Citadel, Maryland over George Washington, West Virginia over Washington and Lee, North Carolina State over Chattanooga, Richmond over Hampden Sydney, VMI over Virginia.

SOUTHWEST
Baylor over Texas A. and M. Texas over Rice.

Texas Christian over Oklahoma. Also: Southern Methodist over Santa Clara, Texas Tech over Arizona, Nevada over Tulsa, Oklahoma A. and M. over Temple.

MRS. HARRY STUHLREHER THE AUTHORESS
In Losing Years

Mr. & Mrs. Stuhldreher Agree 'Football Fans Aren't Human'

Madison, Wis., Oct. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Harry Stuhldreher, with 20 years as the wife of a big time coach behind her, told today why she thinks "football fans aren't human."

The wife of the University of Wisconsin mentor, now embroiled in the most violent controversy of his 13 years here, told the family side of it in an article with that title in the current Saturday Evening Post. The article was written last winter, but couldn't have made a more timely appearance.

Harassed Harry's latest trouble, a product of local "Goodbye Harry" clubs, broke into the open at last Saturday's game with Yale, which the Badgers lost, 17-7. A banner reading "Goodbye Harry" was unfurled in the Wisconsin student section and a goodly portion of the crowd chanted a ditty set to the air of "Good Night Ladies."

His Big Nine entry this year has beaten Illinois, lost to Indiana and California in addition to Yale.

Mrs. Stuhldreher, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, said that she had enjoyed life as a coach's wife until 1946, when "criticism of Harry hit a new high—or low and the 'Goodbye Harry Club' sprang into being."

"This public criticism was a new experience and at first it gave the young Stuhldrehs quite a bang. Every night they'd rush home from football practice, grab the papers, skip the comics and sports and turn to the editorial pages."

The Stuhldrehs have four sons. Criticism covered alleged dissonance on the team, discrimination against Negro candidates for 20-0, yesterday at Sidwell Friends.

Commuters Polled On Added Service

Near Cooksville

Man, 66, Dies Of Injuries In Car Crash

Montgomery County yesterday reported the traffic death of Andrew Watkins, 66, of Rockville. Watkins died Tuesday in Montgomery County General Hospital at Olney of injuries suffered October 11 when his car left the road and hit a tree. The accident happened on Route 97, 2 miles south of Cooksville in Howard County.

William E. Binns, 56, of 1917 N. Nelson st., Arlington, Va., was taken to Georgetown Hospital with a fractured left leg after being injured in an unusual accident.

Police said Binns was walking across Key Bridge in the roadway because the sidewalk is under repair, when a truck operated by Richard H. Coleman, 70, of 2444 Ontario rd. nw. passed him. As it passed, a ladder toppled from the truck and struck Binns' left leg.

Three persons suffered minor injuries when an A. B. & W. bus and an automobile were in collision at 12th st. and Madison dr. nw.

The injured were Dr. Eric Guttman, 47, and his family from Avon, N. Y. The bus operator, Reeves E. Taylor, 41, of 108 E. Walnut st., Alexandria, Va., was charged with colliding.

Four vehicles, three of them trucks, figured in a traffic mixup at 11:45 a. m. at 25th and 1 st. nw. No one was injured.

Police charged one driver, Charles H. Weadon, Jr., 25, of 3413 Q st. nw., with failing to yield the right of way, and John R. Hemsley, 22, of Huntsville, Md., with colliding and operating after revocation.

Police reported that Mabel Young, 48, of 905 R st. nw., suffered lacerations when she walked into the side of a scout car driven by Pvt. Andrew M. Keady, 29, of 10026 Reddick dr., Silver Spring, Md., attached to the Second Precinct. The accident happened at 7th st. and Rhode Island ave. nw.

Accidents Laid To Errors in Home Design

Chicago, Oct. 20 (U.P.).—Wrong designing in homes is a contributory cause to thousands of accidents each year, the home section of the National Safety Congress was told today.

Tyler S. Rogers of the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp., Toledo, Ohio, said architects and designers often ignore safety rules in trying to cut corners to meet demands for lower costs.

"We are, I fear, building broken legs, arms, necks, and heads into altogether too many new houses," said Rogers, who added that much of the blame rests on owners, who ask for unsafe features.

Winding Stair Hazard

"Some of them are entranced with the narrow, steep, winding staircase found in many old center-chimney salt-box or Cape Cod houses of colonial days," he said.

"Others want a winding, gracefully curved staircase reminiscent of the grand mansions they have seen in the movies—but they don't have the space to make them reasonably safe," Rogers asserted.

Manufacturers of home appliances and furnishings must share the blame with owners, architects and designers, Rogers continued.

"It isn't enough merely to require these products be safe when properly used," he said. "We should insist that they be designed so that they cannot become hazardous even when improperly used."

Home Perils Listed

Among the specific home hazards noted by Rogers were: Doors which swing the wrong way, poorly lighted halls, stairways and closets, fire hazards caused by poor design and the use of poor materials; uneven, slippery or sloping floors and high thresholds; stairways which are too steep, have badly proportioned steps, lack handrails and headroom and have slippery or uneven treads, and cupboard and cabinet doors which swing out where they can be bumped into.

The labor management and safety section of the congress was told by a union official that the over-all loss from accidents in industry has been estimated at six to seven billion dollars annually.

John E. Kumpel of the United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America (CIO) called on both labor and management to cooperate in establishing working safety programs.

Japs Prepare for Election

Tokyo, Japan, Oct. 20 (U.P.).—All Japanese political parties, confident that Premier Shigeru Yoshida will dissolve his one-day-old cabinet after it outlaws strikes by government employees, began preparations today for new general elections.

A committee of commuters to Washington from Maryland points has started a poll to determine if it would be worth while for the railroads to extend commuter service south of Union Station.

The poll asks specifically if commuters would make use of the following additional stops: 4th st. sw.; 7th st. sw.; 12th st. sw.; 14th st. sw.; the Pentagon and Rosslyn, Va.

Of 140 persons canvassed Monday on a commuters' train to Baltimore, 69 said they would make use of the extended service, Whitney W. Irons, committee member, said. Another 68 said they preferred to get off at Union Station.

The rest expressed no opinion. Of approximately 100 persons who travel by trains to Washington from small Maryland communities between Baltimore and Washington, the ratio was 5 satisfied to stop at Union Station, to 4 preferring the extended service, Irons said.

The committee makes clear that there would be no additional charge for the proposed service. If the poll shows enough persons are interested, the facts will be presented to the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Baltimore & Ohio for action, Irons explained.

2 Million Road Fund Granted

The District Department of Highways yesterday received final approval from the Public Roads Administration for a $2,131,771 allotment for execution of six major construction projects, including rebuilding of Military rd. nw. through Rock Creek Park.

The funds will be drawn under the Federal Highway Authorization Act, which provides funds on a dollar-for-dollar matching basis. The District will supply $2,131,771, as its share.

The Military rd. project will consist of a four-lane highway running from 13th to 27th st. nw. and a new bridge over Rock Creek. It will follow a direct route, eliminating the present winding, two-lane roadway. The present underpass at 16th st. will be used, but will be rebuilt and widened to fit into the new traffic pattern.

Since the funds are for use during the fiscal year 1950, which begins July 1, 1949, and fiscal year 1951, actual construction on the Military rd. project is planned for next fall. Other projects authorized are:

1. Paving of approaches to the South Capitol st. bridge from Canal st. to M st. and on the north ramp between O and P sts.

2. Extending and relocating of roadways on the Anacostia side of the South Capitol st. crossing and landscaping in the area.

3. Paving of District approaches to the East Highway Bridge.

4. Purchase of rights of way and paving of Virginia approaches to the bridge and landscaping on both District and Virginia sides.

5. Erection of underpass at Kansas ave. ne. under the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad lines.

Conservation Urged By CIO to Insure Food

The CIO yesterday urged a "People's" war against the population of the Nation and the world to insure that Americans have enough to eat in 1970. The labor organization, in a pamphlet, "Healthy Soil, Healthy People," warned that the population of the Nation and the world is growing by leaps and bounds, but arable land available for food production is gradually decreasing.

Rezoning of Riggs Road Tract for Apartments Denied

Rezoning of approximately 21 acres on Riggs rd. adjoining Chillum Terrace to permit apartments was refused yesterday by the Prince Georges County Commissioners at the monthly zoning hearings held in County Service Building, Hyattsville.

A delegation of 40 Chillum area residents appeared in protest. They declared the apartments would further overload the local schools, two of which are on part time and double shifts now, and would depress the value of their area, which is predominantly single family residences.

Director of Planning Fred W. Tuemmler of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission also opposed the change, which is not in accord with the proposed master plan for the county.

T. Howard Duckett, attorney for Harry O. Poretzky, the owner, pointed out that his client had built some 40 single homes in the $15,000 to $20,000 range and they were moving slowly. The land is too valuable to be kept idle, he maintained.

Poretzky planned to build 408 apartment units on the tract, which is about 900 feet north of Chillum rd.

The commissioners granted the petition of Marion F. West, agent for apartment rezoning for about five acres at 4301 Silver Hill rd.

Request for two-family dwelling zoning for three lots on old Landover rd., opposite the entrance to Radiant Vallant, was approved.

The commissioners rejected the petition of Ceco Steel Products Corp. for industrial zoning of four lots extending from Addison rd. to R st., Beaver Heights. Six residents of the area appeared to protest the change.

The Federal Diary

by Jerry Klutts

Republican Campaign Under Way to Get Its Bite of U. S. Salaries

The ears of Herbert Brownell, the GOP campaign manager, must have burned yesterday. Mine did for sure—from Federal workers who called to say they were being solicited for contributions by the Republicans.

Brownell yesterday accused the Democrats of a brazen attempt to "sandbag" Civil Service employees here into making contributions to a "faltering" Democratic campaign.

A score or more of Government people here called to tell me that they were being bombarded with literature and personal calls from Republicans to join the "winning" Dewey-Warren team. And always, they said, it was made all too clear that contributions "up to $5000" would be cheerfully accepted.

Several Federal workers who live in nearby Virginia said they had been indirectly threatened by local politicians with the loss of their jobs if the Republicans win and they fail to contribute to the GOP campaign fund. And one of them asked:

"How can a dying Democratic Administration threaten reprisals against any employee who refuses to contribute to the Truman campaign? Every request for support made to a Federal worker by the Republicans carries with it an implied threat of reprisal because they will be in a position to punish those of us who spurn their overtures... if they win as they fully expect to."

One 30-year veteran of the Federal service said he read my column yesterday of the Brownell blast and then he opened up his mail to find the third appeal in the past month for a contribution to the Dewey-Warren Club here.

He said the letter was signed by Lewis T. Breuninger, club president, who wrote that he was alarmed by the possibility that the Republicans might lose control of the Senate. He added that the congressional campaigns were costly, and then he got to his point:

"The way you can give immediate, positive help is by sending in your check to the Dewey-Warren Club today. Please be as generous as circumstances permit."

The employee was told to make out his check to Bruce Baird, the club treasurer, at 1430 K st. n.w. He said he had yet to be solicited by the Democrats.

Anyway, it seems clear that both of the major political parties are trying to take a bite out of the Federal worker's pay check. In these confused days, it's good to keep this fact in mind—that a Federal worker can contribute voluntarily to a campaign fund, and that he may be solicited by a party worker outside of his home. But if threats or attempted reprisals are tried on any employee—I wish he'd report the facts to me in detail.

PERSONNEL: The personnel staffs in many Federal offices must be reduced as a result of a Budget Bureau order sent out yesterday. The order says that one person can be employed in the personnel office for each 100 employees elsewhere in the agency.

The Army, for example, has one personnel employee for every 58 employees, which means its personnel staff must be cut sharply. The bureau fixed its personnel yardstick at the direction of the House Appropriations Committee.

AIR FORCE: Yesterday set up an all-volunteer drive to hear appeals from employees who are accused of either loyalty or security charges. The board chairman is able Clarence H. Osthagen, special assistant to the Assistant Secretary, Gordon E. Clark, the personnel officer, is vice chairman. Members are:

Leroy Brothers, Ralph P. Dunn, Merwin D. MacCatherine, Nicholas E. Allen and John Madigan, Jr.

The Air Force has taken a sensible step by laying down a policy that makes a clear distinction between "loyalty" and "security." Loyalty cases will be handled under the President's loyalty program despite the fact that the Congress gave AF sweeping power to handle them. However, the accused employees are given far more protection under the President's program.

The board will handle security cases exclusively. It's determined not to confuse loyalty and security as some agencies have done. If an employee who handles secret data gets drunk and shoots off his mouth he'll get fired on a "security" charge and not loyalty. That's how it should be.

MOVE: The Strategic Air Command will be moved from Andrews Field in nearby Maryland to Offutt Field at Omaha, Neb., on November 9. Making the move will be 225 civilians, 172 officers and 339 enlisted men.

LETTER: A letter yesterday from an employee in the Veterans' Administration reports: "A veteran with a big family to support contributed $1 to the Community Chest. The money was returned to him by his supervisor with a note that said it was 'inadequate.' Since then, a promotion for this employee has been delayed indefinitely. The employee is in the Construction Supply and Real Estate Services."

LOYALTY: Paul Porter, a lawyer and former Federal official, told the New York Herald Tribune forum in his talk on the loyalty program:

"I know of a man who now stands charged with disloyalty because he questioned and criticized the loyalty program itself."

100,000 Mark Is Passed in Chest Gifts

100 Residential Unit Volunteers Turn in Over $85,000 Pledges

Gifts to the 1949 Red Feather campaign yesterday passed the 100,000 mark placing total receipts to date at 26.95 per cent of the $4,566,970 goal.

More than 100 residential unit volunteers, that set up by PUC earlier this month for the Capital Transit Co. Only change is that in the case of Capital Transit a weekly pass rate was included.

The PUC stated that the proposed structure would give WM&A approximately an 8 per cent return on its investment. This, the PUC stated, is "fair and reasonable and will maintain the company in a sound financial position insofar as its District operations are concerned."

PUC Commissioners also stated the new fare structure, which becomes effective October 31, "will not impose an undue burden on the users of the service and will, under present-day conditions, be just, reasonable and non-discriminatory."

The new structure does not affect rates now charged for transportation of school children.

In its original petition to the PUC, WM&A had asked for a straight 15-cent cash fare, and elimination of tokens, contending District patrons were not paying their share of the line's operating expenses.

Mrs. Raymond Cole, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Randle Highlands Citizens Association, asked the PUC to limit any fare increase for WM&A to that allowed Capital Transit. Later, PUC executive accountant, V. A. McElfresh, recommended the fare structure announced yesterday.

In the opinion, PUC Commissioners said the company had sustained a loss from total operations during the 12 months ended June 30 and that "some proportion" of this loss came from its District operations.

The conclusion that an increase in fares is necessary is inescapable.

School Board Won't Act on Segregation

Says Interracial Programs Cannot Be Required of Recreation Dept.

By Elsie Carper
Post Reporter

The Board of Education said yesterday that the problem of segregated recreation in Washington school facilities is not its concern.

The board declared that legally it cannot require the Recreation Department to conduct interracial programs on school property.

Voting 6 to 2, the board ruled that the law of 1942 setting up the Recreation Department took all control of recreation out of the hands of school officials and gave it to the new department.

Following the action, 60 school buildings and playgrounds which the Recreation Department requested for the winter program were turned over by school officials with no strings attached.

Voting to deny the request were two Negro members of the board, Mrs. Velma G. Williams and George E. C. Hayes. They said the High School Cadet Program Is Revised

Changes in the District high school cadet program to encourage enlistments were reported yesterday to the Board of Education by School Superintendent Hobart M. Corning.

Highlights were:

Cadets from Roosevelt High School drill during the lunch program instead of after school to permit boys with jobs to participate.

Cadets will march on the field during this year's championship football game.

board should not let the Recreation Department use the properties unless it changes its policy of segregation.

Board Member Albert E. Steinem, who prepared the majority report, said the board can refuse to grant the Recreation Department use of schools only when recreation programs interfere with school activities.

Hayes, who like Steinem is an attorney, said the law gives the school board the right to determine conditions under which schools shall be used.

Opinion Is Presented

Hayes read an opinion of Martin G. White, Interior Department solicitor, stating that the National Parks Service can "insist upon the provision in each agreement" it makes with the Recreation Department.

The White opinion is to be referred to Attorney General Tom Clark, Hayes said.

The board granted use of the 60 school properties only for the winter, denying a request made by the Recreation Department for a permanent agreement.

The school board also yesterday set up a city-wide remedial reading clinic.

Woman Testifies in Doctor's Abortion Trial

She Was Given $1071 'To Get Out of Town'

A 24-year-old typist testified yesterday in District Court that she was given $1071 for "expenses" and "to get out of town" when she was to be the complaining witness in an abortion trial here.

Testifying for the Government is Miss Lee Jeanette LoFaro, of 407 Randolph st. n.w. She is appearing against Dr. Schley Brown, 32, 237 Rhode Island ave. n.w., whom she says performed an abortion on her September 19, 1947.

Miss LoFaro, shapely and with red-brown hair, nervously told the jury that Dr. Brown gave her $300 and that her attorney, Ellis Klein, 1420 New York ave. n.w., gave her the rest of the $1071 during last January, February and March.

On January 7, just a day after the payments began, according to the witness, the trial of Dr. Brown was originally scheduled.

Marshals and police sought fruitlessly for Miss LoFaro for six months before they were able to reach her. Meanwhile the case was postponed.

It is the fourth time Dr. Brown has been charged here with performing illegal operations. Twice he was unable to agree and these cases are to be retried. The other time, the United States attorney's office entered a nolle prosequi because, it was stated, the complainant was reluctant to testify.

On the witness stand, Miss LoFaro wore a black and white dress, black sheer stockings and black shoes.

Under questioning by Assistant United States Attorney Arthur McLaughlin, she said that in May

Finch Backed For Place on School Board

Dahlgren Terrace Citizens Group Asks His Appointment

The Dahlgren Terrace Citizens Association last night adopted a resolution asking District Justice Bolitha Laws to appoint Wilbur Finch, civic leader, to represent Northeast Washington on the Board of Education.

In another resolution, the association objected to frequent renewal of visitors' visas to citizens of the Soviet Union now in the country. It urged the State Department to screen carefully all such applicants.

16th Street Citizens

The Sixteenth Street Highlands Citizens Association last night debated Harry M. Dengler president of the association and in unanimous agreement voted to join the North Washington Council of Citizens Association.

Dengler said the association also changed the meeting date from the third Wednesday of each month to the fourth Wednesday, starting with next month's meeting.

The association elected Gorman Prince, first vice president; Joseph G. Motyka, second vice president; and Mrs. Joseph N. Todd, secretary. Russell G. Merryman was elected treasurer. George W. Lewis and Joseph N. Todd were elected association delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations and the North Washington Council. Dengler will also be a delegate to the council.

Fairfax Village

Plagued by small turnouts at meetings, the Fairfax Village Citizens Association last night debated whether it should continue to function and finally decided it should.

Frank P. Randolph, former president of the Southeast Council of the Federation of Citizens Associations and now a Fairfax Village resident, spoke at the meeting and said all citizens' associations have similar organizational problems.

The meeting, held at the Beers School, 36th pl. and Alabama ave. se., was attended by 21 members. A Halloween party followed the meeting.

The members elected Mrs. Claire Chambers treasurer and Joseph B. Gainer was appointed membership chairman.

Kitchen Tragedy Man Stabs Self Fatally Wife Witness

A husband stabbed himself fatally with a paring knife yesterday before the horrified eyes of his wife.

He was Robert B. Lennon, a house painter, 38, of 500 F st. Finch, civic leader, to represent Northeast Washington on the Board of Education.

The wife, Mary, told police she and her husband had visited his brother, Robert L. Lennon, at 614 1 st. n.w., stopped for beers at a tavern before returning home at about 1 a. m.

She said they sat down to have a cup of coffee when Lennon seized a butcher knife and cried: "I'm going to kill myself."

Mrs. Lennon told how she took the butcher knife from her husband, and he returned to his coffee. Then, a few minutes later, she continued, he snatched a paring knife, and before she could act, plunged it into his breast.

The Lennons came here recently from Whiteville, N. C.

5 Polio Cases Raise Area Total For Year to 220

Five new polio cases were reported yesterday by Children's Hospital, raising the Greater Washington total for the year to 220, as compared with 47 for this date last year.

The cases were a 14-year-old girl of Dunn Loring, Va.; an 8-year-old boy of Chincapien Village, Alexandria, Va.; a 16-month-old girl of the 3700 block of Rhode Island ave., Brentwood, Md.; an 8-year-old girl of the 4800 block of Cordell ave., Bethesda, and a 4½-year-old boy of the 1200 block of V st. se.

The new cases bring the District total for the year to 114 and the total in nearby Virginia and Maryland to 106.

In Virginia infantile paralysis cases this year passed the 500 mark when seven new cases pushed the count to 502, the State Health Department reported.

D. C. Citizens Given 'Say' on Budget Today

All-Day Session in District Building Will Open at 10 A. M.

District residents will have one of their rare opportunities to air their views on the costs of their government at a public hearing today on the budget requests of District department heads.

An all-day session, starting at 10 a. m., will be held by the Commissioners to hear comments on requests to cover operations during the fiscal year 1950, which begins July 1, 1949.

The meeting will be held in the board room on the fifth floor of the District Building, 14th and D sts. n.w.

The problem, in the words of Budget Officer Walter L. Fowler, will be how to reconcile total budget requests of 110 million dollars with anticipated revenue of 99 million dollars. In addition, there is the problem of how to raise about five million dollars to cover a pay boost for the District's 18,000 employees, who did not receive a $330-a-year pay raise given to Federal workers.

The Commissioners and Fowler's staff have held sessions during past weeks with individual department heads to hear testimony supporting their requests. Now, after hearing from residents, the Commissioners will mark up the budget, indicating their changes, and submit it to the Federal Bureau of the Budget. It will then go to the President, Congress and back to the President for final action.

The Commissioners and Fowler have already declared themselves in favor of a sales tax to make up part of the difference and perhaps to cover a pay raise, depending on how soon it is enacted and how much is trimmed off the budget requests.

The groups and their representatives scheduled for today's hearings are:

Police Find Infant In Suburban Home Twenty-One Hours After Abduction

Baltimore, Oct. 20 (AP)—Weeping happy tears, Mrs. Dolores Mezzanotte was reunited at police headquarters today with her 10-week-old baby girl who had been abducted from her carriage 21 hours before.

In a corner of the room, her head bowed, sat Mrs. Leone Sheffield, a 46-year-old mother of three children who police said will be charged with carrying off tiny Jo Ann.

It was on a bed in Mrs. Sheffield's suburban home that officers found the baby, Captain of Detectives Henry J. Kriss said.

Baltimore Police Commissioner Hamilton R. Atkinson himself brought the sleeping child to Mrs. Mezzanotte and her husband, Michael, a Pennsylvania Railroad freight handler. Both were worn out by a night-long vigil.

Atkinson's appearance with the child in one hand and a milk bottle in the other put a dramatic climax to an intense manhunt aided by an observant housewife with a memory for numbers.

Mrs. Frances Kucinski was one of several residents who observed a woman toss some clothing over the wall of a cemetery near their home. The garments were found to be those of little Jo Ann.

Mrs. Kucinski gave police a description of the woman and also a few digits from the license plate number of the black sedan in which the stranger drove off.

Jo Ann was taken from her carriage at the door of a drug store. The abduction occurred in a busy shopping center.

Captain Kriss said Mrs. Sheffield told of having family troubles and figured a new baby might fix things.

Detective Lieut. Henry Sherry reported he and another officer had been "running out clues" in the Dundalk area when they knocked on a door on Cornwall st.

After a long pause, a woman answered. The officers, who had heard a baby crying, asked whether she had one with her.

"They said the woman—Mrs. Sheffield—said yes, adding the baby had been 'born recently.'"

She then led the officers to a room where a baby lay on a bed, crying, and the policemen recognized the child as Jo Ann.

"Well, no, it isn't," they quoted Mrs. Sheffield.

Soon afterward, baby and woman were whisked away to headquarters, where Mr. and Mrs. Mezzanotte received Jo Ann.

"Let me see my baby, just let me see her," cried the red-headed, 28-year-old mother. "She looks wonderful, Mike," she exclaimed to her husband.

Old-Age Insurance Benefits Rise Here

More than 8300 Washington residents are receiving monthly old-age and survivors' insurance under the Social Security Act. Total monthly benefits amount to $162,184.

These figures, made public yesterday by the Washington office of the Social Security Administration, represent an increase of more than 9 per cent over the December 1947, totals.

Victor Sade, Washington office manager, said beneficiaries here outnumber those in 11 States and represent some 8.4 per cent of the total in the U. S.

Of Washington recipients 2684 were retired workers, according to reports on June 30 of this year. Some $22,000 was being paid to these retired workers, and an additional sum of more than $12,000 was going to 905 aged wives of retired workers.

The Washington office also serves five nearby Maryland counties. A breakdown: Calvert, 111 beneficiaries, receiving $1878 monthly; Charles, 85, $1459; Montgomery, 1093, $22,598; Prince Georges, 1026, $18,800; St. Marys, 99, $1704.

Sade pointed out that many persons do not know their rights under the old-age and survivors insurance program and urged residents to make inquiries. The Washington field office is at 1400 Pennsylvania ave. nw.

Dog's Food Causes Suit

The cost of dog food got William J. Carter, 45, into trouble yesterday.

Carter, a janitor at 1921 22 st. ne., is charged with larceny after a 13-year-old police dog.

As told in a preliminary hearing before Assistant United States Attorney Andrew J. Howard, Mrs. Alice Southard, then a roomer at the 22 st. address, in August, entrusted Rosalie to Carter while she left town. She said she gave him $3 to pay for the dog's keep.

She returned, but Carter said that he had given Rosalie to the "trashman."

"I just couldn't afford to pay for all the food she was eating," Carter told Howard.

Carter was taken before Judge Walter J. Casey, who gave him 30 days in jail to find the trashman and deliver Rosalie to Mrs. Southard. Bond was set at $300.

War Bride on Trial

Mrs. Jean Lincoln, 26, a British-born war bride, went on trial yesterday in District Court on charges of robbery, attempted robbery and assault with intent to commit robbery.

She was arrested last August when her late husband, Edward Lincoln, was shot to death when attempting a holdup of the Whitestone Hotel. The case is being tried by a jury before Judge Richmond B. Keck.

Theft Laid to Guard

A Munitions Building guard was charged yesterday with stealing a typewriter and movie camera there. He is Richard F. Johnson, 26, of 78 T st. nw., who was held under $1000 bond for a hearing Tuesday before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage. The FBI reported that Johnson was on night duty when the articles, worth $330, were stolen. They were recovered in a shop here.

Tufts Alumni to Meet

Francis H. Russell, State Department official, will speak at the luncheon of the Tufts College Alumni Club of Washington today at the Army-Navy Town Club. Russell, a Tufts alumnus, is director of the Office of Public Affairs of the State Department.

Moslem Tribute

Memorial For Jinnah Held Here

"The likeness of the life of the present."

"Is as the rain which we send down from the skies..."

With these words from the Koran, Mahmoud Hassan, Ambassador of Egypt, last night opened a memorial service here dedicated to the departed champion of the Moslem cause, Mohammed Ali Jinnah.

The half-hour devotional, one of many over the world on the fortieth day following the death of Jinnah, was held before some 500 persons invited by the Pakistan Embassy.

Representatives of five Moslem nations in the Washington diplomatic world paid homage to the wealthy Karachi lawyer whose name means "lean man." Jinnah's followers called him "Qaid-i-Azam," for "great leader."

In the formal, austere atmosphere of a dimly lighted Department of Interior auditorium, Mirza Abul Hassa Isphani, ambassador of the new nation of Pakistan, introduced those who would read or chant from the Koran.

All quoted the Koran in original Arabic, a tongue familiar to every adherent to the Moslem faith.

"With Him are the keys of the Unseen, the treasures that none knoweth but He," began the first secretary of the Saudi-Arabian legation, Sheikh Ahmed Abdul Jabbar.

He was followed in order by Hossein Tooty, a visitor to the Iranian Embassy; Abdul Hakim Tabibi, attaché of the Afghanistan legation, and U. A. Ansari, press attaché of the Pakistan Embassy.

As he ended his melodious chant from the Koran with the words, "Help us against those who stand against faith," Ansari paused for contemplative recitation of the "Fateha," a prayer for the soul of the deceased.

Those attending then arose for a minute's silence in honor of the man who realized before he died at 71 his life's destiny—a wholly independent Moslem state, Pakistan, in the boundaries of strifed India.

Participants in the ceremony wore western world clothing, as did their departed leader who personified the faith of 100 million members of the All-India Moslem League.

Other eulogies, according to Moslem custom, will be repeated annually by his followers as long as the name of All Jinnah is remembered.

Seeking Refund

On Store's Paint Draws Jail Term

In a case that might be described as "shoplifting," James W. Faulkner, 36, of 3701 Grant st. ne., was given a 30-day jail term yesterday.

Store Detective H. L. Epps testified in Municipal Court that Faulkner picked up a gallon of paint and a paint brush at the Hecht Co. and walked over to the service desk to demand a cash refund.

Epps got together with court prosecutors and they decided to charge Faulkner with false pretenses, which resulted in the jail sentence imposed by Judge Walter J. Casey.

Authors' Use of Humor to Reveal Character Is Highest Artistry, Book Luncheon Is Told

The use of humor to underline a real situation or to reveal character is the height of artistry, Writer James A. Michener said yesterday.

Michener was one of five writers, including a husband-wife team, to speak at the opening Washington Post Book and Author Luncheon in the Hotel Statler before an audience of about 500 persons.

The other authors included Frances and Richard Lockridge, Pat Frank and Mary Lasswell, Alexander F. Jones, assistant to the publisher of The Washington Post, was master of ceremonies.

Michener, a Pulitzer Prize winner, whose "Tales of the South Pacific" is appearing in the Sunday edition of The Washington Post, spoke in "praise of humor," that marvelous inventiveness that comes out of the character.

As an example, he cited an instance where a Lockridge character upon being told, "You didn't drink before you started to drive," replies, "Oh, yes, it gives me such a feeling of security."

Frank, a former Washington newspaperman who left journalism in 1938 to write fiction, and is the author of "Mr. Adam" and the current "An Affair of State," said he was amazed at the changes that have taken place in Washington in recent years.

"It is no longer a sleepy village, but a bustling city," he said.

Collaborate in Talk, Too

The Lockridges, authors of the "Mr. and Mrs. North" mysteries, most recent of which is "Murder Is Served," spoke as they write, in collaboration.

Mrs. Lockridge said she began by taking "a blank sheet of paper, a fountain pen, and saying, 'Who ought to be killed?'"

She described the selection of characters, including the villain—

"who must be pretty grand and good; because then he won't be suspected."

After she has finished plotting the story, "about 10 pages," she turns it over to her husband.

"I have nothing to do," he said, "but write about 250 double-spaced typewritten pages."

Pioneer Principles Urged

Mrs. Lasswell, whose current novel is "Broad for the Living," spoke on her adventures on a small Rhode Island farm and Americanism.

"The first thing that is right with America," she said, "is the town meeting" with its neighborhood democracy in action.

She urged a return to thrifty "pioneer principles; eat it up, wear it out, make it do."

"If America is going to stay where it is, we are going to have to go back to those principles," Mrs. Lasswell said.

Burial Today For 3 Area Servicemen

Three Washington area servicemen, who lost their lives in World War II, will be buried in Arlington Cemetery at 2 p. m. today.

They are among eight Army, five Marine and five Air Force dead. Marines from here will form a guard of honor, and music will be furnished by the Marine Band.

The local men are: Staff Sgt. Elmer L. Garrison, whose sister, Miss Esther Garrison, lives at 1132 Abbey pl. ne.; Sergeant Garrison was killed in action in the Philippines in April, 1942.

A native of the District, he enlisted in the Army when he was 18 years old. He had served 20 years, spending much of that time on duty in Honolulu.

Capt. Donald F. Gerten, son of Mrs. Margaret A. Hinkle of 6303 Riverdale rd., Riverdale, Md. Corporal Gerten was killed on Luzon in May, 1945, after a year and a half overseas service with the Thirty-eighth Division. A native of Indianapolis, Ind., he worked here for Western Union before enlisting with the Indiana National Guard while on a visit.

Pfc. L. L. Benjamin, Jr., whose mother, Mrs. Eva M. Benjamin of 433 Turner st., Chevy Chase, Md., is listed by the Marine Corps as next-of-kin.

A graduate of Bethesda-Cherry Chase High School, and a former employee of the R.F.C. Private Benjamin enlisted in the Marines in October, 1943. He was killed in action on Peleliu Island in September, 1944.

Mrs. Mary H. Kinkaid

Laguna Beach, Calif., Oct. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Mary H. Kinkaid, 86, editor, author and widow of the late Senator Kinkaid of Colorado, died today.

Mrs. Kinkaid at one time was associate editor of the Ladies' Home Journal and editor of the Los Angeles Herald.

J. J. Donnelly

Owen Sound, Ont., Oct. 20 (AP)—Senator J. J. Donnelly, 81, dean of the Canadian Senate, died today. He had been a member of the Senate for 35 years and held office longer than any other member.

Gen. Gaetano Zoppi

Rome, Oct. 20 (AP)—General of the Army Gaetano Zoppi, 98, Italy's oldest general, died today. He was the hero of the Italian stand at the Piave River after the disastrous defeat at Caporetto in the World War I.

700 in Capital For Christian Group Convention

More than 700 members of the Christian Businessmen's Committee International, a religious group, yesterday registered for their eleventh annual convention at the Mayflower Hotel.

Sessions yesterday were devoted to conferences between CBICI directors and local committee chairmen. A street meeting was held last evening at Pennsylvania ave. and E st. nw. Similar street gatherings are slated for tonight and Friday at 9:30 at the same place. At noon Friday a meeting will take place on the south side of F st. nw., between 14th and 15th sts.

Today's meetings will get under way with personal work clinics beginning at 7:30 a. m. The opening business session will be at 10 a. m. and District Commissioner John R. Young is scheduled to greet delegates at a luncheon at 12:30 p. m. At 8:30 p. m. the film, "Voice of the Deep," distributed by the Moody Bible Institute, will be shown.

Edgar Ansel Mowrer

Makes Address Tonight

Edgar Ansel Mowrer, a member of the national council of the United World Federalists, will speak on "How Can Americans Help the United Nations," tonight at 8:15 at the Phillips Memorial Gallery, 1600 21st st. nw. The speech is part of the program scheduled for United Nations Week and is sponsored by the District Branch of United World Federalists.

Austin to Speak At Women Voters Luncheon Friday

"Be an informed voter" will be the theme of the Montgomery County League of Women Voters in their luncheon meeting at noon Friday in the Rockville Presbyterian Church, West Montgomery ave.

F. Byrne Austin, Democratic candidate for the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland, will speak on issues considered in the circular recently released by the league in presenting positions of Austin and his Republican opponent, Representative J. Glen Beall. Basis of the comparison is Beall's voting record in the last Congress and his and Austin's replies to a league questionnaire.

Mrs. Irwin Wensink, chairman of the League Voters' Service, will describe constitutional amendments which Maryland voters will decide on at the November elections.

The program is open to the public.

Private McKneio Wins in County Pistol Shooting

Benjamin P. McKneio, 34, a Montgomery County police private and former Army rifle instructor, collected 193 of a possible 200 points in pistol target shooting to win first place in a county police department competition.

In the interstation matches among Silver Spring, Bethesda and Rockville substations, Bethesda placed first with 927 out of a possible 1000 points.

Rockville was second, with 893 points and Silver Spring was eliminated from the finals held Tuesday in the Kensington Armory. Bethesda will receive the Roy Bodmer Memorial Trophy for its victory.

Two Children Die as Fire Razes Home

Two young children were burned to death yesterday afternoon by a fire which completely destroyed their seven-room home in Merri-field, Va. They were identified as Robert Bell, Jr., 3, and his 18-month-old sister, Beulah Mae, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell, who live a quarter mile south of Lee highway.

Their aunt, Mrs. Armenda Neal, said the children's father was at work at the Rosslyn Gas Co. in Arlington, where he is employed as a laborer, and their mother out of the house when the fire broke out about 1 p. m.

Mrs. Neal, who lived on the first floor of the two-story house, said she heard the children scream in their second floor bedroom, but said she thought then their mother was with them.

When they continued screaming, she said she started up the stairs, but was blocked by smoke and flames. Mrs. Neal said she led her blind sister, Geraldine Woodland, from the house and then tried again unsuccessfully to get out the children.

Peter Witt

Cleveland, Oct. 20 (AP)—Peter Witt, for many years a political independent and social reformer, died today at the age of 79.

By occupation he was a traction commissioner and consultant, but he was more widely known for his political campaigns and his annual "town meeting" in which he lashed political and civic figures.

L. L. Parlett, Gas Service Owner, Dies

Lawrence L. Parlett, 45, owner of the Parlett Gas Service at Waldorf, Md., died of a heart attack yesterday at his home, Cedar Hill, at Mechanicsville, Md.

The firm that he owned and operated distributes bottled gas through Maryland and Virginia. He also owned the Patuxent View Farms at Mechanicsville.

Born in Annapolis, Md., Mr. Parlett attended the public schools of Annapolis and Hyattsville. He moved to Mechanicsville about 25 years ago.

In Waldorf, Mr. Parlett built a combined office building and apartment house, renting the 12 apartment units to his employees. He leaves his wife, Louise, a daughter, Eugenia, and two sons, John K. Parlett, and Lawrence Parlett, Jr., all of Mechanicsville. A married daughter, Mrs. A. P. Gardiner, lives in Ellicott City, Md. Also surviving are three brothers, Leonard H. Parlett of Annapolis, and Upton and Percival Parlett of Hyattsville. His mother, Mrs. Eugenia F. Parlett, is also of Hyattsville.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at St. Joseph's Church, Morgana, Md. Burial will be at Cedar Hill Cemetery here.

Jr. League's Luncheon Features Talk on U. N.

By Marie McNair

WANT TO BUY an evening dress for only $7, or a cut velvet suit for $3?

These and a dozen other costumes, practically new, all with the new look were shown yesterday at the Junior League's annual luncheon held at the Chevy Chase Club. Selected from the racks at the Thrift Shop and the league's own Outgrown Shop, the frocks, hats and furs were modeled by some of the Junior League's prettiest members.

The fashion show was but one feature in an afternoon-long program devoted to the organization's activities. Dr. Walter Kotschnig, chief of the division of the United Nations Economic and Social Affairs, was guest speaker and in addition there was a "Playtime" skit by Poppy and Guessing Girl, the league's television hour which will resume on television Saturday afternoon, November 6. Short speeches were made by Mrs. David St. Pierre Gailard for the Red Cross Blood Bank, and Mrs. Thacher Winslow talked about the league's educational program for the coming year.

Earlier, the more than two hundred members, gathered for cocktails on the glass-enclosed porch which looks out over a panorama of rolling greenward and trees touched with autumn's hand.

MISS MARGARET TRUMAN put in her first appearance since her return from a long summer holiday, wearing a smart navy blue costume made with a full skirt and short jacket and a hat to match trimmed with a glycerine ostrich brush.

Mrs. Kenneth Fales, the organization's new president, wearing a tobacco brown frock, wide flaring brim hat of the same color and brown orchids pinned to her shoulder, was at the door to greet members as they came in.

Brown was a favorite color yesterday, for other officers of the league, Mrs. Alexander Guyot, second vice president, was in a rich golden tan suit with sleek coque feathers edging her upturned hat; Mrs. George W. Petticoat, Jr., wore cocoa brown crepe with osprey on her matching hat. Also seated at the speaker's table were Mrs. Gerhard Cesell, finance chairman; Mrs. David Varner, first vice president; Mrs. Frank G. Sternell, placement chairman; Mrs. Thacher Winslow in a leopard Dutch bonnet and leopard skirt topped by a fitted jacket of beige wool; Mrs. Lewis Cove, league chairman for the Community Chest campaign, and Mrs. Carlton Skinner, pretty in gray with a black velvet calot on her fair hair.

Glancing about the room I saw Mrs. Thomas H. Shepard, Junior League chairman for the Thrift Shop, and Mrs. Emmett Echols, chairman of the Outgrown Shop, who had arranged the fashion show; Mrs. Christopher Sargent in navy blue, Mrs. Farnham Blair wearing a gray jersey and fitted green hat; Mrs. Kenneth Hofel in rough green tweed and Mr. Adrian Fisher, tall and slim in deep crepe with beige satin ribbons on her brown hat.

WITH UNITED NATIONS week being celebrated throughout the world, Dr. Kotschnig's subject "The United Nations and You" gave his audience an adequate summary of the work of the organization since its founding little more than three years ago.

"We started with high hopes in San Francisco," said the speaker, "in two months the Charter was framed and signed. Now, the question arises, is the machinery producing or have we created another monster? Or does it create a false sense of security and we shall wake up some morning and find ourselves in the midst of another war."

Austrian born Dr. Kotschnig, who's now an American citizen says he believes there is very real hope that we cannot only avoid another war but that we will eventually bring out a kind of international relations in which we will be able to live in reasonable safety. Firmness must be our policy, he went on to say, and patience. We Americans are apt to expect too quick results, Dr. Kotschnig believes, and that's impossible in a world as complicated as it is today.

Taking up the five organs of the United Nations, one by one, Dr. Kotschnig told of the accomplishments of each, of the difficulties that have been overcome. With the establishment of the Western bloc and the Russian bloc in the General Assembly the encouraging factor is that the Democratic nations' bloc is voluntary, the Russian bloc enforced.

To illustrate his point, the speaker told a story of the chief Russian delegate to the Geneva conference, spotted one morning walking beside the lake. It was a sunny day, clear and cool, yet the delegate carried his umbrella up.

"Why do you walk with an umbrella?" inquired an acquaintance, "there's not a cloud in the sky, the sun is shining and it's not warm?" "Sh-hh," answered the Soviet cautiously, "I've just been informed that it's raining in Moscow today!"

Soroptimists Hear of Europe's Plight

Senator Herbert R. O'Connor told a great burden on the Marshall Plan countries to furnish their own defenses, and that such a burden "might defer for some years the attainment of that minimum economic level of achievement which is the prime objective of the Marshall Plan."

The Maryland Senator also spoke with high praise of the Hoover Commission for reorganization of the Federal Government.

He said that with Federal expenditures at an all-time high it is extremely important that we maintain this nonpartisan committee to study possible methods of streamlining Government functions.

He then pointed out that it would

Guests Attend Gala Premiere For 'Hamlet'

Dr. Sol Katz stressed the importance of educating the community in the fight against tuberculosis at a luncheon meeting yesterday of the Washington Ladies Auxiliary, Jewish Consumptives Relief Society, at Hotel 2400.

Dr. Katz, who is chief medical officer in tuberculosis, Gallinger Hospital, and adjunct clinical professor of medicine, Georgetown Medical School and George Washington University Medical School, pointed out that the first concern should be the discovery of tuberculosis in its early stages. He urged other communities to follow the example which Washington has set in X-raying the entire community. JCRS is primarily concerned with individuals in need of hospitalization and admitting them to its Denver, Colo., sanatorium.

Jewish Women's Council Has Business Session

The District of Columbia section of the National Council of Jewish Women held its first business meeting of the season at the Jewish Community Center yesterday, with Mrs. Theodore D. Peyser presiding.

Following the business meeting, when reports of committees were heard, Serge Benson, a representative of the Community Chest, gave a short talk.

The legislative committee presented a skit on the approaching meeting. The speaker and guest of honor will be Miss Stella Scurlock, Youth Conservation chairman for the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

WHEN two national presidents of patriotic societies meet after several months' absence there's bound to be plenty to talk about. So it was yesterday with Mrs. William H. Pouch of New York, honorary president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Children of the American Revolution (left), and Mrs. Donald Bennett Adams of New Rochelle, N. Y., national head of the C.A.R.

CAR Joins Movement to Retain Woodlawn as National Shrine

By Genevieve Reynolds

The Children of the American Revolution also voted to donate funds for the project.

The CAR board joined with the Daughters of the American Revolution in protesting a proposed extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike through Valley Forge. Separate action was taken by the organizations at board meetings held yesterday in Constitution Hall, endorsing the same resolution was the board of Daughters of the American Colonists.

As a further protest to the turnpike road, Mrs. William Langston of York, Pa., national chairman of Valley Forge, initiated a petition at the board meeting which will be circulated throughout DAR chapters in the Nation.

In a special recommendation the DAR board gave the go signal to begin work on its tower in Valley Forge.

Last night heads and board members of all the patriotic groups now in session here attended the benefit card party sponsored by the society. More than 800 attended the gala affair held in Constitution Hall.

Among the groups represented were the Descendants of the Ancient Honorable Artillery of Boston. During the afternoon delegates to the DAHAB, attended a tea given at the home of Mrs. Frank B. Wilber.

Women Voters Hear Speeches Of Candidates

Four Virginia congressional candidates yesterday outlined their platforms during a luncheon meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington at the Little Tea House, 1301 S. Arlington Ridge rd. House aspirants present were Tyrell Krum of Fairfax, Republican nominee for the Eighth District; Mrs. Sarah D'Avila of Arlington, Progressive Party nominee, and Frank M. Hurst of Alexandria, an Independent. Also present was Mrs. Virginia Foster Durr of Alexandria, the Progressive Party's nominee for the United States Senate.

Krum said Congress must work to avoid another war, plan for better United States schools, improve the Nation's housing and continue veterans' benefits.

According to Mrs. D'Avila, neither the Republican or the Democratic Parties have effectively dealt with housing and price problems. She said people in Virginia lacked a party in which their needs "could find expression."

Independent candidate Hurst, who lives at 720 N. Columbus st. Alexandria, declared taxes were too high, teachers' salaries too low. He added that the present Congress has forgotten "that we are a Christian nation."

Mrs. Durr, touching on foreign policy, declared it would be "impossible" for Russia "to wage a war today" because of that nation's war-devastated economy. She felt that communism was "not our system," but that it grew "only on the ruins of an old system" when people became so poor they took the existing wealth, occasionally "by force," and divided it.

Missing yesterday, although they were invited to attend, were Senate incumbent A. Willis Robertson (D., Va.), veteran House incumbent: Howard W. Smith (D., Va.), and Robert H. Woods, the Republican candidate for the Senate.

"Found an apartment
10 minutes from work
the second day my Post ad ran!"

"Placing a classified ad in The Post is an excellent way to find an apartment," enthused Mr. John P. Stone, assistant manager of Carpet Center, Inc., in Silver Spring. "I've got proof. I'm getting married November 13 and I wanted an apartment in the same part of the city as my office. I advertised in The Post starting October 5, had six or seven calls and found a fine place on the second day. It's a furnished apartment in a four-family building, renting for $72.50—and it's only ten minutes' drive from work!"

Mr. Stone is one of many who have found the exact living quarters they'd hoped for through The Washington Post. Try The Post yourself. Call National 4200 and ask for an ad writer.

The Washington Post

A GOOD example of how contemporary design can get along with traditional is seen in the silver elm and beechwood furniture in this raftered, pine-paneled room. It's "Precedent," a type of modern that does not demand the entire stage for itself but mixes well with other furniture and settings of many periods. Characterized by simplicity, honesty and dignity, it is sold locally by Mayer & Co.

Ask Anne About Clothing For Israel

Do you or any of your readers know of an organization which is taking clothing for shipment to the state of Israel?

S. M. S.
The B'nai B'rith women's organization collects clothing for this purpose and will pick it up at your home. Telephone Mrs. Samuel A. Feldman, Emerson 4835.

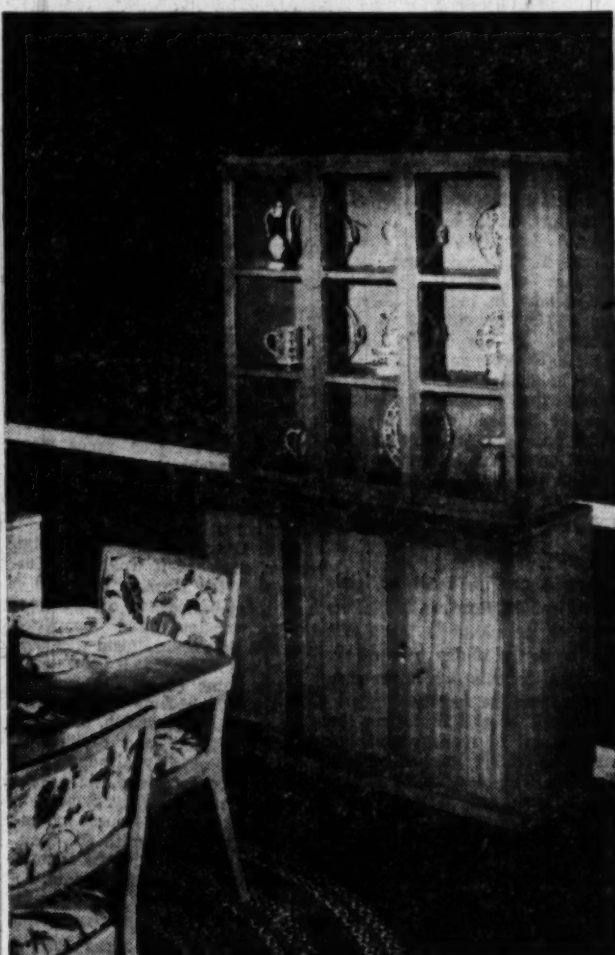

Do you know of any place where I can have my shoes re-dyed so that the dye will not peel? They were originally kelly green but I preferred a darker shade. A shop did the job for me but after wearing a few times, the dye began peeling. If there is no one that can do this, is there anything I can do to restore them to their original color?

A. H. G.
My only suggestion would be to take the shoes to a firm which specializes in shoe dyeing and ask their advice on the problem. I know of no home method which would restore them to their original color or stop the peeling. If it were only a problem of the dye rubbing off and if the shoes are not suede, applying several well rubbed coats of colorless shoe polish would improve that situation.

Is it possible to have leather bells cleaned and pressed back into shape? The bell is very wrinkled and the lining has slipped so that it is exposed on the outside. If this can be done, where in Washington can it be done?

L. R. J.
It is difficult to say whether or not this belt can be reconditioned without seeing it. I would suggest you take it to a company offering shoe repair as well as valet service. When they see it, they will be able to tell you what can be done. For such a firm look under "Shoes-Repairing" in the yellow pages of the telephone book.

Can you advise where I can find a tray containing compart-

The beautiful, simple lines of this cabinet make it possible for it to fit in gracefully almost anywhere. Beechwood was used for the frame and silver elm for the panels in this "Precedent" piece. It comes in two parts—a lower cabinet with sliding shelves for linen or dishes and a "superstructure" with glass doors. Made in North Carolina, it's among the furniture on display in a series of model rooms at Mayer & Co. here ments for forks, knives, etc., for my sideboard.

K. B. R.
If you wish a tray which is lined with tarnish-proof fabric suitable for fine silver it will probably be necessary to have one made to order since the size of sideboard drawers is not standard. Trays of this sort can be ordered through a jewelry store in your town. Or chests lined with tarnish proof cloth can be purchased where fine silver is sold. Unlined plastic or wooden trays, with compartments for silver, are sold very inexpensively at dime, hardware and household equipment stores.

When you are in a cafeteria and sit at a stranger's table, or she with you, and you engage in conversation, is it proper to excuse yourself if you leave the table first?

L. K. M.
Yes, it would be appropriate and proper to excuse yourself when leaving the table.
To J. A. L.: A Washington store has just advised us that its china department has a few odd cup saucers in pink Historic America china. They also have a few cups and saucers (sold only together) in blue Historic America. For any other pieces than these, they will take orders but cannot guarantee when they will be filled as this china is coming in very slowly from England these days. To reach this department, telephone District 5300 and ask for the china department. A suggestion from another reader on this subject is also being forwarded to you.

A Military Wedding, Maybe— WAFS Give Their Reasons For Joining Air Forces As Sun Rises in Texas

By Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer

LACKLAND AIR FORCE BASE, Tex., Oct. 20. At precisely 6:25, through the chilly pink and gray Texas dawn, a column of 80-plus newly enlisted WAFS swung down the road. "Hup!" barked a tough, curly-headed blond 5-foot-2 sergeant. The column wheeled right to a halt, then singled filed into the mess hall.

The girls, neat in field coats, their flight caps tucked under shoulder straps, picked up divided trays. They helped themselves to tomato juice, stewed prunes, apples, bananas, oatmeal, cold cereal, toast, bacon, hard-boiled eggs. Metal pitchers of coffee steamed on every table. Seated on wooden benches all in brown striped seersucker PT—physical training—dresses they looked very young, a little tired, but pleasantly in the groove of military life.

What made these girls, almost all in their late teens or early twenties, join the women in the Air Force, choose military discipline, living far from home for at least three years. Enormous white coffee mug in hand we table hopped to find out. The answers, some humorous, most serious, all appreciative made up an illuminating cross section of this country's feminine teen-age ambitions and problems.

"I'm here so as I'll have a military funeral," grinned a dark-haired girl. "Or a military wedding," added her neighbor who hailed from Illinois. "I joined because I was stuck in Springfield," she continued, "and might have been there all my life. I wanted to travel. Why, I'd never have gotten even to Texas on my own."

Takes Place of College

AN IOWAN sitting opposite tossed in her reasons: "My folks couldn't afford to send me to college. This three years will be my college education. I'm interested in photography, but I might get married. I don't know."

"I'm interested in public relations," volunteered a tall girl. "I worked as a reporter on a small paper you never heard of—the Sherburn (Minn.) Advance Standard; I like people, want to work with them. I figure this is the way to get to know how."

A tiny, very shy little girl said, "It sounds silly, because I'll probably never even see a plane, but I'm interested in aeronautics." "Her ambition is to be a bomber pilot," explained a pal. "Well, anyway, I might get to be an aeronautics engineer," the shy one retorted timidly.

Down near the window another spoke up. She was more mature, surer of herself. "I wanted to get into the service during the war but I was too young. When I got here I looked around. It looked good. I said to myself, 'Marty you're a 30-year woman, I'll stay in the service that many years, retire with a pension.'"

A girl from Tennessee interrupted, "I joined for just one reason—to change my way of living." "That's right," Marty cut in, "the way I see it with lots of these kids it is not so pleasant at home. They can't very well move out and take a room across town without hurting their parents' feelings. So joining this outfit is a wonderful way to get a life of their own. Of course, when you are scrubbing barracks floors you wonder why you did it."

"You Can Really Save Money"

"SPEAKING of barracks floors," said a big redhead, rising hastily, "I'm detailed to clean barracks before inspection this morning. If you're interested why I'm here, it's because it seemed like a nice, interesting career for a woman. Besides, you can really save money. What you make is clear because your uniform and food is free."

Marty, glancing at her empty tray, continued on a new tack. "Mentioning food and money—I never ate so well in my life. Why it used to cost me 75 cents for a sandwich, piece of pie and coffee—now look at all this."

Over at the next table a WAF, her baby face made serious by enormous horn-rimmed glasses, called over: "I'm from El Paso. I joined to learn and to grow up. I got here early about six days ago and I've gained six pounds already," she finished ruefully.

An ash blonde, deeply dimpled, size 10 child put in her bit: "You see, a lot of us are only 18. After we have been here three years we can still go to college; and by that time college conditions probably won't be as crowded as they are now." A lot of them 18—we glanced across to where the czarina of the mess, Sgt. Alva Boone, was directing a brace of mess attendants—once head of the inflight mess where wartime VIPS ate when passing through Washington, she had just reenlisted for a six-year tour of duty. And handsome Sergeant Boone, unbelievably reported as nearing mid-century mark, is planning to open a restaurant in California when her six years is done.

As the girls picked up their trays and started back to barracks, a young lady from North Carolina drawled: "I'd be glad to work for Uncle Sam any day." But highest accolade of all was from a newly enlisted WAF who, when asked to write her life ambition, wrote: "A 20-year WAF or an all-my-life wife."

SAINT MYSTERY COMIC SLOGAN CONTEST

Open to all grade school, junior high, and high school kids in the Washington area.

HERE'S WHAT YOU DO: First, begin by tuning to the comic pages of The Post and get acquainted with "The Saint." Next, decide what you want to say about this new mystery comic. Then say it—in a slogan, a jingle, what have you. With or without sound effects indicated—it doesn't matter.

Finally, write your slogan on a piece of paper, put on your name, address, age and school and send it to the "Saint Mystery Comic" Contest Editor, The Washington Post, Washington 4, D. C. You may enter as many slogan ideas as you wish. Be sure your name and address are on each one.

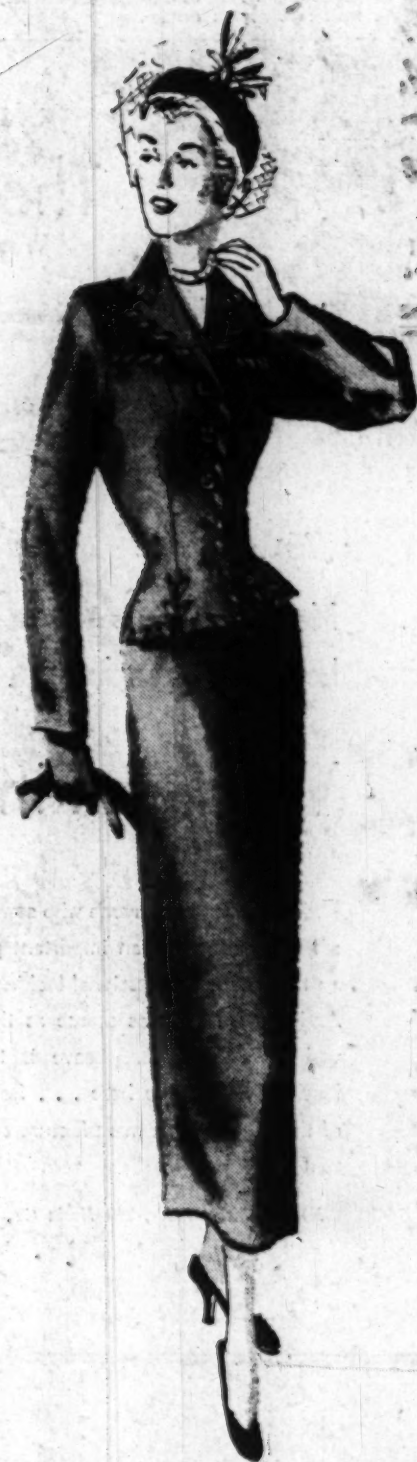

The contest lasts until October 31. Entries received after October 31 will not even be opened. So get going—now. Read the Saint Comic in The Washington Post. Put on your thinking cap. Try your idea out on your family. Then send it in. In case two or more persons send in the same slogan, the one reaching the judges first will be considered original, so it pays to get your ideas in right away.

For Mothers to Be

'Eating for Two' Applies Only to Protective Foods

By Ida Jean Kain

ANY weight gain in excess of 20 pounds during the pregnancy period is sure to be right there on hips and waistline after the baby arrives. Then too, the habit of overeating for nine months is extremely difficult to break, and the new mother finds herself hungry all the time . . . and gaining.

That old saying that one must "eat for two" at this time has done far more harm than good. One doctor protests that no more horrible thing was ever told to women. "Eating for two" applies only to the protective foods. Since the growth promoting foods must be increased, the nonessential foods must be decreased.

There is often a false idea as to the amount of food required during this period. Calories need not be materially stepped up until the latter months of pregnancy, and then not more than 20 per cent. This may seem like quite a boost, adequate for the expectant mother doing light exercise, the increase would be 440 calories. The addition of two glasses of whole milk and a slice of wholegrain bread and butter adds sufficient calories.

That bit of calorie arithmetic makes it plain why the expectant mother who relaxes all discipline and eats anything she pleases, rationalizing that she is going to lose her figure anyway, loses it for good and all . . . and blames it on Junior.

Checking Weight
Our modern mother, however, is not only willing but eager to eat the foods that will give her baby good nutrition and not cause an excessive weight gain. Many expectant mothers request safe weight control diets. To check a too-rapid gain, the calories can be restricted to 1800 per day. In some cases the calories may be restricted to 1500, but of course only with the doctor's permission. The diet must be scientifically planned so there will be no decrease in the essential materials.

If the foods in the accompanying list are included daily, adequate growth material will be furnished, with the calories curtailed to 1800 a day.

Tomorrow . . . special weight control diet for overweight expectant mothers.

The new leaflet, Protection Nutrition for Expectant Mothers, includes a low-cost 2500 calorie diet menu. Please send long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Washington Post with request.

Odorless
Don't put away a frying pan that smells of onions, fish, etc., when all you have to do to eliminate that odor is put some vinegar in the pan and bring it to a boil. Then wash as usual and all odors will be gone.

Weight-Controlling 1800 Calorie Diet

Milk—1 quart whole milk. Or 1 can unsweetened evaporated milk.
Meat, Fish or Fowl—¼ to ½ pound. Use liver at least once a week.
Eggs—2, or 1 egg and 1 ounce American or Swiss cheese, or ½ cup cottage cheese.
Bread—3 slices, 100 per cent wholegrain. Should be wholewheat, rye or pumpernickel. Or 2 slices of bread and 1 small serving whole-grain cereal.
Butter—1 tablespoon. Margarine may be substituted with no loss of food value.
Fruits—3 servings
1 should be orange or grapefruit—fruit or juice.
1 should be tomatoes or tomato juice.

1 may be as desired.
Vegetables—4 servings without added fat, butter or sauces.
1 should be a medium sized potato.
1 should be raw—such as lettuce, cabbage, celery.
1 should be dark green or yellow—such as carrots, spinach, greens.
1 may be as desired.
Water—at least 8 glasses a day.
Supplementary Vitamins—800 units of Vitamin D, plus Vitamin A in concentrated form. This totals 1800 calories. This number will keep the expectant mother's weight controlled.

A Damp Atmosphere

If you live in a damp climate, an emery needle cushion is necessary for the work basket. It is the only way you will keep the needles shiny and free from rust.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST FEDERATION GOAL IS $4,566,790

Included is a . . . Hospitalization Fund of $1,080,000, of which $850,000 must be provided through the Red Feather Campaign, the rest from net payments by patients through the Hospital Service Agency.

THIS IS OVER 20% OF THE TOTAL GOAL

The $850,000 through the Community Chest Federation campaign is 97% more than hospitals received last year from the Community Chest Federation Hospitalization Fund.

WHY SO MUCH MORE?

Last year the Hospitalization Fund paid the hospitals $7.50 per day. They estimated the actual cost to be over $14.00 per day. This included bed, meals, nursing, operating room, X-rays, medicine, laboratory, physiotherapy, special treatment, etc.

So—the hospitals lost money—thousands of dollars—on this and other similar contracts such as District government cases and pre-paid group hospitalization plans.

DISASTER THREATENED!

A separate hospital campaign for well over a million dollars loomed ahead. Nobody wanted that. Not the Chest.

Not the Hospitals.

Not the Community.

So—the Chest Federation did some close figuring—offered the hospitals $11.00 a day—less than they estimated as minimum, but enough to help keep them solvent for 1949, if the goal of $4,566,790 is raised. This means the hospitals have been saved the time, energy and expense of a separate campaign.

It means the Community has been saved one more major campaign. It means that only through a successful Community Chest Federation Campaign can this minimum amount of money be made available to the hospitals.

YOU CAN ASSURE IT BY: Giving one day's "take home" pay—If you earn less than $5000—giving proportionately more if you earn more!

MARK TRAIL

THE DISTRICT LINE by Bill Gold

Try Our Quiz, But Don't Peek at the Answer

Every Washington motorist is familiar with our system of circles and squares, which forces us to leave a street on which we're traveling, only to return to it later on.

But there's one intersection in the District at which westbound traffic is forced to turn off although eastbound traffic goes straight through—and there's no circle, no square, no one-way street, no repair work or temporary blockade. Do you know where it is? The answer is at the end of this column.

MISCELLANY

John R. Hughes of 2301 Taft st., Arlington, Va., agrees that some department store Santas could stand a bit of improvement. He recalls the 1947 yuletide season, when he dropped in to see Santa Claus but found an empty chair and a note which said: "Out for a short beer" . . . District Liner George Savary, the fellow who couldn't find the white envelopes he wanted, writes from Detroit to tell us that before he moved there from Washington, Fred C. Spaulding, of 3125 Military rd. n.w., told him where he could get just the envelope he was after . . . George is retaining his franchise as a District Liner via the mail editions . . . B. P. Thomson of 2605 Adams Mill rd. n.w., says that the way he heard the "preposition" story, a source chief put out a memo objecting to the ending of sentences with prepositions and finishing up with: "This is something I will not put up with" . . . If you saw the movie "Holiday in Mexico" you'll know why Helen Madeline Moore of 3164 18th st. n.w. hoots at the type which made it "Hollywood in Mexico." Helen asks: "Have they transplanted the movie capital?" Not really, Helen—it's done with trick photography . . . Another courteous Capital Transit employee—this time No. 1286, reported by Sam Kostolefsky, the hobby man, of 3263 M. st. n.w. Sam says No. 1286 helped a blind man off his car and over to the curb at 20th and the Avenue the other day, and then returned to his car and politely apologized to the passengers for the brief delay. His name, Sam, is F. O. Johnson of 4103 W. st. n.w., and he recently marked his tenth anniversary with the transit company. . . . A. H. of 4514 15th st. n.w., got a good laugh out of two kids who were reading the streetcar ads, and came to one which showed a woman pouring liquid starch out of a bottle. "Talk about drinking whisky," mused one of the youngsters, "a couple of shots of that stuff and she'd really be stiff."

Senatorial Candidates Appraised

By Drew Pearson

The record of Congress during recent years is not unlike the present garbled politics of the country. Party lines have been cut. Republicans sometimes voted with Democrats; some Democrats lined up with Republicans.

This will probably continue. It will probably also be true that Dewey will get as much support from certain Democrats as he will from some Republicans.

In fact, the irrepressible, lovable Congressman John T. Brooks has already served notice that the GOP isolationists are planning to give brother Dewey a rough time on two issues—economy and international cooperation.

Electing the right kind of Senate, therefore, is second only to the election of President. With this in mind, here is the Merry-Go-Round roll call of United States Senators up for election next month:

Joseph Ball (R., Minn.)—A mixed-up personality who gets tangled in his own emotions. A former newspaperman, Ball came to the Senate determined to do right, but when he swung to Roosevelt in 1944 he was so ostracized by his own Republicans that, to win back their favor, he swung to the reactionary extreme.

Stiles Bridges (R., N. H.)—A tough, forthright scrapper who has usually voted against his isolationist GOP colleagues. He watches pennies, raises Cain over too much spending and frequently votes against the GOP reactionaries. Bridges is an asset to the Senate.

"Curley" Brooks (R., Ill.)—Brooks has been opposed to almost all of Dewey's New York record. A likeable personality with a charming wife, Brooks is wholly controlled by the Chicago Tribune and is almost proud of it. If re-elected he will be in Dewey's hair on many issues.

John Cooper (R., Ky.)—Has made an excellent record during his brief term in the Senate, has supported Democrats on foreign policy, and will be an asset if re-elected.

Henry Dworshak (R., Idaho)—Along with Curley Brooks, he is the most dyed-in-the-wool isolationist in the Senate. Dworshak permitted his mailing list to be used by a Hitler propagandist, was glad to have the support of Gerald L. K. Smith, and is one of the few Western Senators who didn't fight hard for reclamation.

Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.)—Came to the Senate with a record for graft cleanup and as long as the Democrats controlled the Senate, Ferguson had a healthy knack of keeping them on their toes. Once he got into power, however, Ferguson lost that knack.

Ed Johnson (D., Colo.)—A tough veteran who knows his legislative onions, Johnson does a good job for his State and his voting record usually represents the folks back home. He is a competent public servant.

James Murray (D., Mont.)—Though a millionaire, Murray has spent all his years in the Senate battling for the underdog. No Senator on either side of the aisle has a better record. On international issues and such domestic problems as health and housing he will support Dewey far better than his GOP colleague from Montana.

Edward V. Robertson (R., Wyo.)—Manager of the Coe Ranch, owned by his brother-in-law, the Senator has been the undying friend of the big sheep and cattle men, but voted against most measures for labor and the little fellow. Born in England, he married the daughter of H. H. Rogers, partner of old John D. Rockefeller. Robertson has usually voted isolationist and though a wealthy man has had his wife and chauffeur on the Government payroll.

Chapman Revercomb (R., W. Va.)—Handsome, smooth-talking, likeable Chappie tangled with Dewey over the displaced persons bill and was even criticized by his own church (Presbyterian) for religious discrimination in connection with this bill. Chappie has consistently voted with the big business interests of his State.

Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.)—A Boston blueblood who dates his ancestry back to the Pilgrim Fathers, Saltonstall votes right more frequently than he votes wrong. He casts rather a thin shadow on the Senate, however, and sometimes seems almost frightened of that shadow.
